CLEW TO EKLUND SLAYER

New Evidence Obtained Places Murderers in Taunton on Night of Crime

Taunton, May 4.—The first direct piece of evidence which places the slayers of Oliver L. Eklund in this city on the night of the crime was received today from three reputable persons.

One of the pair, the taller, entered the pharmacy of John F. Mulhern at No. 8 Broadway and sought Jamaica ginger.

It is the impression of the investigators that the frayed nerves of the men forced them to seek a stimulant. And, furthermore, being in a strange community they sought Jamaica ginger rather than whiskey or any of its other substitutes.

At the time the man entered the pharmacy, in the vicinity of 10 o'clock, in addition to Mr Mulhern there was present Dr. A. J. McGraw of No. 93 Washington street and Raymond Fryor of No. 47 Broadway.

The man who was about five feet ten inches in height and wore an oxford gray pinchback overcoat, also had on neatly creased trousers, tan shoes and a dark brown soft hat.

PROTESTS DEMANDS OF CREWS

Peters Against 'L' Increase Until Men Show Earning Capacity

Mayor Peters today came out flatly against any wage increase to employes of the Boston Elevated.

In a letter to H. Ware Barnum, general counsel for the Elevated and a member of the arbitration board which is hearing the wage demands of the men, he warned that last year the deficit, which is annually assessed on the communities served, cost the city of Boston about $2,000,000.

The Mayor wrote:

"I believe I voice the sentiments of the great majority of our citizens when I say that it would be most unmoral to grant any increase to employes of the Elevated, were such increase to cause a deficit in the Elevated finances. Under such conditions the primary consideration is the great public."

The Mayor draws a contrast between the responsibilities of the carmen and those of the police and firemen, declaring that, without prejudice to the former, the duties of the police and firemen demand "a higher average of competency than is required of motormen and conductors."

"Any increase in the salary of carmen, therefore, which would automatically yield a higher salary than the police and firemen," continues the

Landlords' Lawyers 'May' Go to Hades

New York, May 4.—Permission to "go to hell" was given lawyers in the Second District Municipal Court, Bronx, by Justice Morris, shortly after court had been adjourned.

Justice Morris had ruled that landlords would not be given dispossess orders against tenants who were willing to pay the rent. This came at the end of a busy session, and court was then adjourned.

The landlords and their lawyers started to argue the matter and got this reply:

"I could not sleep at night if I thought I was the cause of children and their mothers being thrown out of their homes by grasping landlords. The new laws give me ample powers to protect them, and I intend to use those powers.

"You can go to the Supreme Court of the United States—and to hell."

Senate Bill Seeks to Prevent Industry Being Crushed by British

Washington, May 4. — Legislation providing for the creation of a permanent United States merchant marine, today was favorably reported in the Senate by Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee.

The bill has been reconsidered in the committee during the last week, several changes being made in the original bill to protect the American shipbuilding industry, according to Senator Jones.

Commenting on the future of the merchant marine the committee report warns against foreign competition and quotes a British shipping publication as announcing the British policy to "crush or meld opposition."

"This is what we must meet. We are going to meet it not in the spirit of destruction but in the spirit of fair play and with a determination to secure our first portion of the world's carrying trade," the report declares.

Constant changes in the personnel of the Shipping Board is scored in the report which calls attention that thirteen members have served in the five places since the board was organized and that two vacancies exist at present.

Police Suppress News of Burglaries in Newton; Hunt for Local "Raffles"

The fact that at least twenty burglaries have occurred in the Newtons during the last eight weeks, the details of which were suppressed by the police, became known today.

It was declared that the breaks were a "one man job," the burglar specializing in men's clothing, silverware and jewelry, effecting his entrance in almost every case through an open window.

In explaining why the crimes had not been made public, Chief of Police Frederick Mitchell stated that information was withheld at the request of the victims.

The leading spirit is thought to be an eccentric "Raffles" who lives handy and who has developed such skill and daring that he has ransacked bedrooms in fashionable homes while occupants slept peacefully and has departed with the coats, vests and trousers of men folks who draped chairs with them before retiring.

While jewelry and other valuables have been deftly removed from dressers, the mysterious cracksman is reported to have specialized in male clothing, to such a degree that the

MARCHERS IN TENANTS' LEAGUE PARADE DEMAND RENT LAW

TELL LEGISLATORS TO HALT ADVANCE BY LANDLORDS

Rent profiteering must be stopped!

That such is the will of the people of Greater Boston became certain last evening when rent payers from all sections of the city and suburbs marched to Tremont Temple, and after cheering speakers who urged remedial measures, unanimously adopted resolutions indorsing the Boston American Tenants' League and the efforts of Representative Martin Hays.

War veterans and men and women of different nationalities participated in the parade. Carrying banners on which were inscribed the slogans of the rent payers, hundreds of men from the less wealthy sections of the city formed in line behind Stone's Military Band. Women from the same sections of the city marched proudly behind the band, too.

Either sidewalk along the parade route was a moving mass of men and women from the Back Bay, Brookline and other sections where high priced apartments predominate. While the rent payers of the poorer sections marched four abreast in solid formation behind the band, the residents of the high priced sections, by far the hardest hit by rent profiteering, kept in the background for obvious reasons.

Thousands of persons lined either sidewalk to view the marchers. It was apparent that many of these spectators had been deterred from marching themselves by the rain which began to fall earlier in the evening, and ceased only a short time before the parade started.

Call on Legislators to End Rent Profiteering

Governor Coolidge, members of the General Court, Mayor Peters and other officials were called upon to co-operate in the passage of sane, remedial legislation to curb profiteering landlords for the public good, in resolutions adopted at a great mass meeting in Tremont Temple under the auspices of the Boston American Tenants' League.

That the feeling of the public is at white heat on this subject was amply attested by the thousands who crowded the hall, indorsed the aim of the Boston American Tenants' League, cheered and applauded the efforts which this newspaper is making to stamp out profiteering, and made their feelings toward the rapacious property owners known in no uncertain terms. Care was taken, however, to distinguish between the profiteer and the honest landlord who seeks only a fair return for his investment.

How effective weapons might be put in the hands of the people to deal with greedy landlords was told by James F. Gannon, director of revenue and finance in Jersey City, Representative Hays of Brighton and Harry Guterman, former counsel for the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life. John J. Martin, banker and vice-president of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange, presided.

Explains "Rent Strike" Plan in Jersey City

Chairman Martin declared the Boston American had made out an excellent case and that if there were any legislators needing to be convinced of the vital necessity for speedy legislative action, they must have been assured that it existed if they were present at the meeting. He deplored the fact that there was not a larger number of Sate and city representatives present.

Director Gannon of Jersey City explained the "rent strike" plan by which he had put down profiteering in his own city. He explained the five essentials to the success of the strike.

Resolutions Adopted at Rent Mass Meeting

The resolutions unanimously adopted at the Boston American Tenants' League mass meeting were as follows:

Whereas, a shortage of suitable houses for rental obtains in Boston and Massachusetts due to lack of building during and since the war;

Whereas, certain landlords, taking advantage of such shortage have raised and are raising rentals to unjustifiable amounts;

Whereas, such rent profiteering is unmoral, unnecessary and unjust to tenants and reputable landlords;

Whereas, the Boston American, through the formation of the Boston American Tenants' League, is attempting to urge upon the General Court the urgency of passing sane, corrective and remedial legislation before its adjournment to afford relief to the public, in which work it has been aided by Representative Martin Hays of Brighton and many of his fellow Representatives; therefore, be it

Resolved, that we, members of the Boston American Tenants' League, rent payers and landlords of Boston and Massachusetts in meeting assembled, do hereby place ourselves on record as unanimously behind the aims of the Boston American Tenants' League; and be it further

Resolved, that we hereby petition the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to enact suitable, just, remedial legislation along the lines advocated by the Boston American Tenants' League before adjourning the present session of the General Court; and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Governor, the members of the General Court, the Mayor of Boston and other officials, and to other organizations whose interest in the public welfare is such that they will co-operate in urging the passage of legislation for the public good.

"First, you want to have every single city department to back the tenants who are conducting the strike; second, you want unity, house by house; third, a trial by jury; fourth, no violence; fifth, the unanimous support of the newspapers, and you will get it if you are giving the landlord a square deal," he declared. He advocated a trial of this system for Boston.

"The thing that makes the rent profiteer possible is the law of supply and demand—more people than houses for them to go into. The Hays bill I consider a splendid legislative measure. It looks as if some landlords in Boston are robbing the cradle once a month.

"In Jersey City we were having legalized robbery, month after month, extortion upon extortion. We considered we were doing our duty by calling a municipal rent strike. We sent out a notice to profiteering landlords telling them we were not going to tolerate the breaking up of homes and the evictions of people having children. They laughed at us.

"With the authority of the city commission we put a one-fourth page 'ad' in every newspaper telling tenants, with notices to vacate, not to pay any unjustifiable increase in rent and that all costs of litigation would be paid by the city.

"They came to the assembly chamber—1,500 people representing 5,000 complaints. We had twelve attorneys and eighteen clerks. In the next week we went to the assessors' office to learn how many were profiteering and how many were not. A majority turned out to be profiteers.

"For four days no attempt was made to collect any of the 5,000 raises. At the end of two weeks we had sixteen cases in court. We sent out men from the health department, men to inspect the heat, the sidewalks, the condition of the whitewash, to learn who had violated the ordinance requiring twenty-four hours' notice of a rent increase. In the police court in five days we had taken $500 of their money in fines.

Tells of Convictions of Profiteers

"Nine cases went to trial before a jury and the verdict was for the tenant in every case; six were settled by me; in one case the city withdrew. Always demand a trial by jury for every rent increase. You will find when you get a jury trial that the jury will discover more unwritten law than William T. Jerome ever knew.

"The landlords gave verious alibis—the high cost of paper and paint, etc. You know how often the average flat gets paper and paint—once in five years. Out of 8,500 cases in that February and March strike, 2,500 were settled in my office, only 68 in court, and there was not a single eviction.

"The landlords asked: 'What do you want?' And they were told: 'Draw up a lease for one year, and when you do it I will introduce a resolution in the city commission to give you back the money you paid in fines.' And they did it."

Representative Martin Hays also paid tribute at the outset of his speech to the efforts of this newspaper to serve the cause of the people, saying he had not at all times agreed with it on questions of policy and adding:

Lauds American's Fight for Tenants

"But I want to pay tribute to this fearless, honest, worthy opponent, a good, fair, fighter, and I am pleased to publicly acknowledge the splendid work that has been done in this cause by the Boston American."

Representative Hays declared he had served many years in the Senate and House and had always aligned himself with the conservative element. He declared he was in no sense a radical.

"I do not want to inflame any person with the slightest spirit of discontent," he declared earnestly. "It is not conditions alone that we must meet, it is individuals. This is not a meeting to strike at all landlords, for the vast majority of property owners are respectable, God-fearing people. My bill will not do them a particle of harm.

"We strive to get at a type of man whom I can best describe as a rent-hog. There are a number of them in our midst, but unfortunately there is no legislation to curb rent-hogs. I believe it is the duty of your representatives to give you such legislation that you can live in peace, happiness and comfort.

"It is in meetings like this that people can express themselves on this question. When public opinion is sensibly expressed it will find a sympathetic ear on Beacon Hill. If you believe in this legislation I want you to write, to telephone, to petition your Representatives and Senators for legislation which will bring this about. If there are any good ideas in any other bill on renting I want them incorporated in this bill. This question is bigger than personal vanity."

Explains His Rent Bill Safeguarding Tenants

Mr. Hays explained his bill which is intended to safeguard the interests of the tenant and landlord by making it unlawful to demand an extortionate rental and limiting profits to 10 per cent. net after all expenses, taxes, depreciation and repairs. The bill provides a fine of not more than $1,000 and imprisonment for not less than one month or more than one year, or both, for violation of its provisions.

That per cent. is a good profit on an investment, Mr. Hays offered proof by citing the per cent. net profit upon the Tremont building, per cent. upon the Exchange building and the Kimball building and said that if men with millions invested were satisfied with these percentages, others with less should be satisfied with ten per cent.

RENT INCREASED $17 A MONTH

Representative Mellody Charges Landlord Resented Protest to Mayor's Board

Instances of marked increases of rent were revealed today before the Mayor's Committee on Rent and Housing, when tenants complained of landlords.

Representative P. J. Mellody, one of the tenants, testified his rent was raised $7 a month, and that when he and other occupants of a four-family dwelling at No. 65 Pembroke street, South End, protested to the Housing Committee, the owner, John W. Winslow, announced a second increase of $10. Representative Mellody declared the additional jump was made because the tenants had dared to protest.

Herbert E. Ellis of the committee stigmatized Winslow's conduct as "palpable profiteering, with malice as its basis." The landlord was summoned to appear Thursday.

BOTTLES THROWN.

Herman Rubin, No. 40 Hansbore street, charged by tenants with boosting their rent four times, alleged the occupants of his property had thrown bottles at him and swept refuse through the halls. Abraham Levine and David Abrahams, two of the tenants, came to an agreement with Rubin, whereby he reduced their rent $1 per month. Jacob Singer and William Goldstein declined to accept this proposal.

Rubin declared to the committee that his tenants had "formed a tenants' league against him." He charged Goldstein and Singer with stirring the others to "revolt." He told of spending $500 in repairs, and this caused laughter among the tenants.

He described mending a gate on the premises, and questioned as to the cost, replied, "I gave my time to it, and my time is money."

A $17 jump within two weeks was the accusation brought against P. T. Hughes, No. 763 Mount Auburn street, Watertown, by two tenants on his property at No. 120 Hillside road, Watertown, F. P. Prescott, and Alfred Bramscom. They said Hughes purchased the house recently and that they had lived there since 1917, only one raise, from $30 to $33, having been made during a three-year period, by the former owner. This, they said, they had willingly paid. Hughes, after taking possession of the residence, had caused their rent to soar to $50. Hughes is said to have admitted purchasing the house as a matter of speculation. He is a real estate dealer.

COMPLAIN OF INCREASES.

Formal complaint was made to the committee against the Glenway Realty Company, with offices at No. 229 Columbia road. The complainants were tenants occupying houses owned by the company at Nos. 218 and 224 Humboldt avenue and No. 102 Homestead street, Roxbury.

The company came into the property about a month ago. Immediately the following raises were proposed: Isidor Sonnabend, from $46 to $66 a month; H. B. Weinstein, M. B. Bloom and W. Germain, from $40 to $58; Mrs. D. Bergheim, from $40 to $58; A. Berkowitz, from $40 to $58; A. Harrison, from $45 to $63; Mrs. H. Rogers, from $35 to $45; C. Perkins and S. Mamos, each from $38 to $50; H. Sherman, from $40 to $52. Chairman Nichols of the committee ordered a hearing in the matter Monday morning.

Wilfred B. Keenan was before the committee as attorney for M. Jacobs, a landlord with property at No. 631 Morton street, Dorchester. Mr. Keenan was asked to explain a letter summarily ordering tenants out, "forthwith," and threatening them with legal processes. He said the landlord wished to get rid of the tenants, and criticized the Mayor's committee for "meddling."

Banker W. F. Fitzgerald and Senator Owen Want Reserve Rate Reduced

William F. Fitzgerald, prominent banker, speaking at the Democratic reception to Senator Robert Owen of Oklahoma at Young's Hotel today, declared that unless the Federal Reserve Bank reduces its interest charges to 5 per cent., there will be a panic in this city.

Senator Owen, who had previously declared himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, agreed with Mr. Fitzgerald and said that he had made the same prediction on the floor of the Senate.

In his speech the Senator defended the League of Nations, the value of which he said the public did not realize, and asserted that America's membership would be of great help to Ireland.

He said that by the use of the economic boycott "and all the safeguards that go with the league," there would no longer be a military necessity for a subjection nation. Furthermore, he declared, that England would no longer fear a German army landing on the shores of Ireland.

Mayor Peters, who was also one of the speakers, said that the meeting was the first at which men and women sat down together as citizens.

Included among the guests were a number of prominent women, wives of leading Democrats.

TWO PRISONERS ARE EKLUND CASE SUSPECTS

Chief of Police Millmore of Watertown today notified the State police that two men arrested for a break in that town on April 26, may have had some connection with the Eklund murder case. Sullivan, one of the men, attempted to sandpaper the tips of his fingers. The other man, Thomas M. Connors, had a small metallic combination hammer and box opener. They are held at East Cambridge in $2,000 bail.

Inspector Caffrey, the finger print expert, had taken the prints of Oliver Eklund's fingers.

20 BURGLARIES IN NEWTON

News of Crimes Suppressed by Police; Wine, Clothing and Jewelry Stolen

local police first thought somebody had turned burglar to defeat the high cost of living.

But the burglar or burglars are also credited with having stolen rugs and bric-a-brac and to have carried away choice vintages from family supplies in cellars. It was learned today that at least twenty "breaks" have been successfully carried out. In all cases entrance has been gained through bedroom windows left open by the occupants for fresh air.

In thus discarding the "jimmy" and other tools of the gentry the burglar who has terrorized the residents of the Newtons has shown another departure which earned for him the title of "Eccentric Raffles."

There is friction between Mayor Childs and the police department. Mayor Childs thinks there should have been the fullest publicity from the outset. He also stated today that the police had "almost made an arrest."

Two weeks ago in Newton Centre the homes of Dr. Arthur C. Boutelle, No. 529 Ward street, and Bertha E. Joyce, No. 1082 Centre street, were entered and property stolen. A week ago Saturday the house of W. V. Lander, No. 62 Lenox street, was broken into.

DEMANDS MATERNITY BENEFITS TO HALT RACE SUICIDE HERE

PEARSON ASKS FOR JUSTICE

Urges Action to Protect Unborn and Tells of Small Families

That maternity benefits are necessary to discourage the tendency to childless marriages was declared by Senator Gardner W. Pearson of Lowell, himself the father of four children, to the Senate Ways and Means Committee of the Legislature today.

"Unfortunately," he said, "there is a tendency to childless marriages. The second generation of immigrants has fewer children than the first and the Yankee family that has two or three children is rare.

"What we need in the nation is sound and healthy children. The State is now spending $14,000,000 a year repairing children in its institutions after they are born.

"We want not charity to the parents but justice to the unborn. We want to help not the degenerate, dissolute or spendthrift but the rich and poor alike. Childbirth is just as painful to the rich mother as to the poor."

ATTACKED THE BILL.

The maternity benefits bill was today attacked by two groups—those who oppose maternity benefits as "socialistic" and "communistic" and by the Edna Lawrence Spencer group, which opposes the details of the bill while being ardently in support of the principle of maternity benefits.

"The cash benefits of $12 a week for six weeks under the Spencer bill would be only a drop in the bucket, a palpable waste of money," said Senator Pearson. "Her provision to limit maternity benefits to only the poor and needy would cost the State $150,000 a year to find out whether the people were poor before they could be given this maternity advice."

Asked whether he thought the State Department of Health should be allowed to prescribe the physicians' fees in these maternity cases, Senator Pearson said:

CHARGES ONLY $2.50.

"Grave abuses are being practiced. I have heard of one physician who is charging but $2.50 and the results are manifestly undesirable."

Mrs. William Lowell Putnam said that "under the democratic spirit of Massachusetts, maternity benefits should be given to all."

Corporation Counsel Arthur D. Hill recorded Mayor Peters firmly in favor of the principle of maternity benefits. "The Mayor believes," said Mr. Hill, "that it would be a wise expenditure for the State to undertake. Boston is ready, even though the city would be compelled to pay one-third the cost."

"Poor health and poor brains fill up the institutions," said Robert W. Kelso, State Commissioner of Public Welfare. "We can head off some of the wreckage."

Woman Saved From Burning Ship

Mrs. Inker Syvertsen, rescued at sea with crew of burning oil ship Riveor.

New Bedford, May 4.—For the first time in more than a century and a quarter that it has welcomed shipwrecked mariners snatched from watery graves, the Seamen's Bethel here today houses a woman.

She is Mrs. Inker Syvertsen, wife of the steward of the Danish ship Riveor, burned at sea Sunday, with eighteen members of the crew of the ill-fated ship. She arrived in this city on the revenue cutter Acushnet.

The Riveor, a four-masted motor ship bound from Newport News to Norway with a cargo of coal and oil, caught fire forty miles southwest of Gay Head. The fire started in a bulkhead alongside a tank containing 200 gallons of kerosene.

A wireless call summoned the British steamer City of Canton, and the crew with most of their valuables were transferred with little difficulty. The Acushnet picked up the City of Canton's call and reached her at 3 in the morning, took the rescued mariners aboard and brought them here.

WIFE PROBABLY BURIED ALIVE

"Bluebeard" Tells Police He Only 'Guesses' Wife Was Dead When Interred

Los Angeles, May 4.—"Bluebeard" Harvey, while confessing to the murder of a fifth of his numerous wives, calmly stated that in killing of Miss Nina Lee Deloney, confession of whose murder he had previously made, he had probably buried the woman alive in Borego Valley.

His previous confession, he said, had not given fully the details of the murder. He struck her on the head with a hammer, he said, then wrapped a blanket securely about her to smother her, and drove in a leisurely manner to the place where he buried her.

"GUESSES" SHE WAS DEAD.

"I took a blanket and wrapped it around and around her head so she could get no air. I guess she was dead when I buried her. She did not move. I killed her in that way because it prevented dangerous bloodstains.

District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine, to whom the confession was made, said he would compel the prisoner to exhume the body from its desert grave to ascertain, if possible, whether the woman actually smothered to death.

FORGOT NAME OF ONE.

"Bluebeard" intimated that the murder of the fifth wife was of such slight consequence that the trivial matter had almost escaped his mind. He could not even recollect her name, he declared, nor that which he had given when he married her in Tacoma.

He stated that he took the woman out in a rowboat on Lake Washington and threw her overboard. Then, as she strove to seize the boat's gunwale, he grabbed an oar and beat her on the head until she sank and drowned.

2 Mothers for Spiker 'War Baby' Approved

By International News Service.

Washington, May 4.—The "co-operative mothering" of the Spiker baby by Mrs. Perley Spiker and Mrs. Guy Spiker, her husband's "war sweetheart," was commended today by Dr. T. A. Williams, neurological adviser to the Red Cross in France during the war and famous in medical circles. He described it as "A sensible arrangement by two normal women."

"It should work out well," he said. "I do not know whether Mrs. Guy Spiker is still in love with the man now her brother-in-law. She was when her baby came. Mrs. Perley Spiker is in love with her husband. It is natural that the two women, both being normal, should love his child and be willing to share its care.

"Jealousy, natural in women? That's a fallacy if there ever was one. It's because people have this mistaken idea that they look upon the friendship of the Spiker woman as amazing.

"Why think it impossible for two women to live in the same house as the man they love, share his affection and continue on friendly terms? Two normal women could do it. Stupid people I suppose would call it indecent. Stupid people believe all normal desires and normal actions indecent.

"If jealousy is natural in women, how do you account for the fact that women in the days of the clans contentedly shared the affection of one man and the care of his children? If this was still the custom, women would be happy in the arrangement.

"I know it is possible for one man to love two women, sincerely loving each for different qualities. Some day society will be advanced far enough to accept a situation like the Spikers, with understanding and think it nothing strange if two women and the man they love live in the same house, forming a happy domestic trinity."

MORPHINE IS SEIZED IN RAID

Arrest Follows Seizure of $3,000 Worth of Drugs in Lynde Street Room

Harry Bass, said by the police to be a drug peddler with the most giltedged clientele which ever came to their attention, was arrested today following a raid on his Lynde street room, when morphine valued at more than $3,000 was found.

The police said that Bass, who had the most complete morphine peddling layout they had ever seen, numbered among his clients professional men and members of one of the most prominent clubs in this city.

The man, for whom the authorities have been seeking for some time, was arrested in Scollay square, charged with having habit forming drugs in his possession. Some time previously Patrolman John J. Flaherty entered Bass' room, where he claims to have found a large quantity of morphine in all stages of preparation.

The drug, put up by a New York firm whose name had been cut off the labels, was powdered, in cube form and in six-inch boxes, each of which was said to be worth $500. Flaherty also found needles, druggist's scales, papers for making up packages and other accessories to the traffic.

The police stated that Bass used his room as a laboratory, soliciting trade during the daytime, and making deliveries in an automobile at night.

Washington, May 4.—The Senate has passed a bill authorizing the coinage of a Roosevelt two-cent piece. It also passed bills authorizing the coinage of 50-cent pieces to commemorate the anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims and the 100th anniversary of the admission of Alabama and Maine into the Union.

GUEST FIRES AT IMAGINARY FOES

Albert D. Watson, Running Amuck, Endangers Many Lives at Worcester

Worcester, May 4.—Scores of guests and employes of the Hotel Bancroft narrowly escaped injury today when Albert D. Watson, of Boston, "ran amuck" in his room and fired round after round of shots at imaginary foes.

Some of the bullets imbedded themselves in the walls, some flew out the window, and some penetrated the door of the room and passed through the hall.

The police arrived just in time to rescue a bellboy who had forced his way into the room and was covered with a smoking revolver by its occupant.

Watson, who is an expert accountant, was taken to the State Hospital for observation after he had explained that three men who followed him from Boston last night were filling his room with mustard gas.

He said he lived with Mrs. Carl Bartlett, a sister, on Huntington avenue, Boston.

DR. CLEVELAND OPPOSES RULE BY COMMITTEES

"The leadership of our government should not be vested in a series of committees, irresponsible, divided, working in secret; we should make our executives responsible, and do away with the autocracy of committee government." This opinion was expressed by Dr. Frederick A. Cleveland today at the citizenship class at the Massachusetts Equal Suffrage headquarters. He condemned the form of committee government which prevents voters from knowing the real issues before lawmaking bodies. "An open session of Congress is better than a secret session of a partisan committee," Dr. Cleveland said. "Nowadays the only public forums are carried on through the editorial columns of newspapers."

Fannie Hurst Secret Bride for Five Years

Fannie Hurst, who wed in secret five years ago and who has successfully tested her theory of "freedom" for wives and husbands. The revelations of the secret bride come as a surprise to her friends.

New York, May 4.—Fannie Hurst, the writer, announced that today is the fifth anniversary of her wedding. In acknowledging that she is legally Mrs. Jacques S. Danielson, pianist and composer, she emphasized that in everything except the purely domestic circumstances that are but an incident of her life and that of her husband, she wishes to be simply Miss Hurst.

The writer gave details of a remarkable marital agreement. She meets her husband only by appointment, they maintain separate studio apartments, they have averaged two breakfasts a week together since the ceremony, and by the terms of a prenuptial understanding neither is to give an accounting for the time spent apart from the other, Miss Hurst said today:

NEW THEORY OF WEDLOCK.

"Our marriage is the result of very definite theories concerning wedlock. We decided to sail into the sea of matrimony in a bark of our own designing. It has not sprung a leak during five years on the high seas. We were married by a Justice of the Peace or a magistrate, I forget which, at Lakewood, N. J., on May 5, 1915.

"I am anxious to emphasize that our marriage was not the result of a fad, but the working out of a problem according to the highly specialized needs of two professional people.

"We decided that invariably being invited to the same social functions might eventually resolve itself into the usual married wrangle of dragging each other to places we did not want to go.

"We decided that in the event of offspring the child should take the paternal name until reaching the age of discretion, when the choice should lie with him.

"PERSONAL LIBERTY."

"We decided that accounting for our time to each other would prove irksome and for five years we have enjoyed our personal liberty precisely as we did before our marriage, using, rather than abusing, the unusual privileges we grant each other. My husband telephones me for a dinner engagement exactly the same as scores of my other friends. I have the same regard for his piano. We have different sets and circles of friends as well as friends in common.

"Since Nature so often merely springs a trap as her means of inveigling two people into matrimony, we decided that we would try out marriage for a year and at the end of that period go quietly apart if the venture became a liability instead of an asset. It is not now an experiment. The one year has stretched into five and we are announcing—not annulling.

"I do not think our experiment could have been attempted outside of New York city, where the individual becomes a unit and not a person."

HAVEMEYER HEIR TELLS COURT HE IS "BROKE"

New York, May 4.—Hector Havemeyer, heir to the Havemeyer sugar millions, claims he is "broke" and and unable to pay a $1,054 judgment for a fur coat purchased in February, 1916, by his wife, according to George F. Orr, attorney for the judgement creditor, A. A. Jaeckel & Co., Inc. Another court action now pending against Havemeyer is the $100,000 action brought by Harriet Hearn, a manicure, who claims he promised to marry her.

The farms where the disease has been discovered have been quarantined for ten days.

LOSE MOVE TO SAVE PULP

Commerce Commission Denies New Freight Rate for Shipping Cases

Paper manufacturers who have been interested in an application before the Interstate Commerce Commission for a favorable rate on metal shipping cases which would result in the conservation of wood for pulp purposes have learned that the commission has refused the freight rate asked for, thus making the use of metal containers impracticable.

The decision followed by only a few days the introduction in Congress of the Underwood resolution calling attention to the fact that more than double the amount of wood used in paper manufacture is wasted annually in wooden boxes and paper containers.

Paper men have been hoping that the hearing on containers would be reopened to give them opportunity to show how greatly a favorable decision would affect the paper industry, and Arthur C. Hastings, formerly president of the American Paper and Pulp Association, recently made a trip to Washington to urge this action upon the commission. Mr. Hastings will testify before the Senate committee investigating the print paper shortage.

The metal container on which the rate was asked had been approved by the American Railway Association as preventing loss and damage.

Dozens of letters from manufacturers and railroad and freight men were produced endorsing the container.

In its decision the Interstate Commerce Commission said in part:

"Concessions in freight charges based upon the manner in which goods are packed or the containers which are used are not unlawful, provided they are reasonably related to the advantages accruing to the carriers from the improved packing or loading.

"In the present instance, however, the evidence offered to show the character and extent of the advantages which the carriers would derive from the use of complainant's container is largely speculative. Under the circumstances we are not justified in requiring the carriers to grant the concessions which are sought, or in undertaking to prescribe modified concessions."

It has been estimated that the use of metal containers would save $50,000,000 in damage and theft of goods in transit, $240,000,000 in wasted lumber now used in one trip containers, and from 10 to 25 per cent. of the cost of foodstuffs which now goes to pay for crates which are thrown away.

60,000 LEGIONAIRES FACING EXPULSION

Sixty thousand members of the American Legion, throughout the State, face expulsion from the organization unless they pay their national and State per capita tax by June 1, according to a statement issued by State Adjutant Leo A. Spillane. The assessment amounts to $1.25 including payment for the American Legion magazine. Massachusetts Legionaires say that very few of the members of the organization have received the paper, which is supposed to be a monthly publication.

PIANIST SUES NEW HAVEN FOR INJURY TO FINGER

Pittsfield, May 4.—Miss Ruth Deyo, a pianist of New York and Stockbridge, has filed suit in the Superior Court through her attorneys to recover $10,000 damages from the New Haven Railroad for the loss of the use of a little finger on one hand for four months. She alleges that carelessness on the part of one of the road employes resulted in her finger being crushed in a door.

MRS. OTTERSON BACK ON STAND

Tired After Long Grilling, She Tells of Events on Fatal Night

Concord, N. H., May 4.—Mrs. Marion L. Otterson, on trial here charged with the murder by shooting of her brother-in-law, Maurice, at Hookset, resumed the stand in her own defence today for cross-examination by Attorney-General Young.

She appeared tired after her long grilling of Monday.

She answered questions as to hunting trips made by herself, Howard Otterson, her husband, and his brother, the murdered man; also on events at the Otterson home on the night of the shooting, when a neighbor was summoned by Mrs. Otterson after Maurice had been killed.

CROSS-EXAMINE WIFE.

Q.—Do you recall the date of your engagement to Howard? A.—Not exact date; approximately November 1, 1914.

Q.—Who planned the hunting trips? A.—All of us together. No one took the initiative.

Q.—Did you go upstairs after Mrs. Stewart arrived? A.—Yes, shortly after she got there.

Q.—What was the purpose? A.—I went to take a dose of aromatic spirits of ammonia. Later I went for a drink of whiskey.

Q.—Was the gray sweater on the hook when you let the dog out? A.—I suppose so. I cannot tell when I last saw it.

Q.—When were the curtains drawn in the sitting room? A.—When Maurice left to take gasoline to Mr. Ellison. He pulled one down. I think I pulled down the other.

Q.—Did you not say to Dr. Sanders that Maurice drew them down? A.—That is a mistake.

Q.—You said yesterday that the sweater was over your head before you struck the floor? A.—I was first conscious of it soon after I reached the floor.

Q.—When Maurice left you to take the gasoline were you afraid? A.—Yes, a little, but I didn't mind staying alone for a few minutes.

Q.—What time were you planning to leave for Manchester. A.—At 8.

Q.—Why were you and Maurice left alone? A.—For no reason other than to follow the plan of always leaving two members of the family together.

Q.—Was it strange that you shouldn't go to Manchester to pick out the stove that your husband intended to purchase? A.—I considered my husband competent to choose it.

Q.—Isn't it strange that you shouldn't have wanted to pick it out? A.—Not at all.

DOG WAS RESTLESS.

Q.—You say that the dog had been restless all night? A.—Yes.

Q.—Does the presence of strangers affect him? A.—Yes, he generally barks. Sometimes, however, he does not.

Q.—He is an uncertain dog? A.—Yes.

Q.—What did the family get the dog for? A.—To train him to be a watch dog.

Q.—Primarily the idea was to have a dog to keep away prowlers and strangers? A.—I think so.

Q.—When you let the dog out he barked? A.—Yes.

Q.—Didn't you think it strange? A.—Yes; he acted as he wasn't accustomed to act.

Q.—How was it uncustomary? A.—Generally he rushes around the house. This night he stopped on the top step and barked two or three times.

Q.—Did this strike you as being suspicious? A.—Yes.

Q.—But not suspicious enough to compel you to investigate? A.—I looked around for a few seconds.

Q.—Was the person who attacked you a man or woman? A.—I have no idea. It must have been a man.

Q.—Did you satisfy yourself that he was a strong man? A.—He surely could not have been a very frail person.

DIDN'T SEE ASSAILANT.

Q.—When you were first attacked could you tell how you were seized? A.—I could not tell which hand was on my arm. It was my impression that his right hand was on my throat and the left on my arm.

Q.—Did you see your assailant? A.—I had no opportunity.

Q.—Why didn't you scream? A.—I had no opportunity.

Q.—Do you mean to say that from the time you first heard the scuffle behind to the time you were grabbed you had no time to make an outcry? A.—I could have, had I known there was a reason.

Q.—There was time then? A.—I could have, if I had known what the scuffle was.

Q.—You did not see any part of your assailant's arm as he grabbed your throat? A.—None.

Q.—None at all? A.—He exerted considerable force. The whole thing was done quickly and with force.

Q.—You were not frightened when you heard the scuffle? A.—No, not until I was grabbed.

Q.—How could he get the sweater if you were being held by both his hands? A.—I don't know.

Q.—How did he get the sweater? A.—I have told you that he released his left hand as I fell to the floor.

Q.—How long did you lie on the floor? A.—I do not know.

Q.—When he left you, what did you do? A.—I first threw the sweater from my face. I was excited. I got to my knees.

COULDN'T TELL.

Q.—How long after you heard the second man go into the sitting room was it before you heard Maurice coming down stairs? A.—In the condition that I was, I could not estimate.

Q.—When the bandit told you that he would shoot you if you attempted to struggle, could you determine from the voice whether it was a man or woman who held you? A.—I was in no condition to tell.

Turning her back on a concert career to sacrifice her life in a remote leper colony of Java, Miss Helen Chobanian, a student at the Salvation Army Poor Man's Hospital and Dispensary in Roxbury, will be heard for the last time in public on her tour of New England in aid of the Salvation Army's drive for a Home Service fund. The drive is from May 10 to 20.

At the Roxbury institution Miss Chobanian is studying nursing, medicine and pharmacy. She was born in Armenia and lost all her family but one brother when the Kurds attacked her native village. She was then but five years old. The two children escaped over the desert, and Miss Chobanian later went to England, and was educated in France and Switzerland.

PARKER PLEADS FOR BEER BILL

Delegation of Prominent Citizens Asks Governor to Sign Measure

A plea to Governor Coolidge to sign the 2.75 beer bill was made to him today by a delegation of prominent citizens headed by former Attorney-General Herbert Parker.

Parker was accompanied to the Governor's office by a delegation representing the "Constitutional Liberty League," a recently formed organization which might be termed the "high-brow" opposition to national prohibition.

Parker was counsel for the brewing interests when the national prohibition amendment was ratified by the State Legislature. Charles S. Rackemann has been conspicuous in the pro-liquor fight of the last two years and Bentley W. Warren is the legislative counsel and agent of numerous street railway interests.

The other members of the delegation were Charles B. Barnes, Jr., and Francis R. Bangs of Boston, treasurer of the Republican State Committee.

They said to the Governor that the sentiment of the people, as indicated by the recent test votes, is in favor of wine and beers. Governor Coolidge told them that "the matter is receiving my most careful consideration."

President Edwin T. McKnight of the Senate announced today that he would sign the bill. Last night he declined to affix his signature, although the bill had passed both House and Senate.

Mr. McKnight said that "good reasons" had prevented his signing. As soon as McKnight's name is placed on the bill it goes to Governor Coolidge.

FIND NEW CLEW IN SUICIDE OF WOMAN

Salem, May 4.—Among those who have viewed the body of the unidentified woman who commited suicide by shooting at the New Essex House was Dr. John P. Hickey of Peabody, whom the woman had said she was going to visit on business. Dr. Hickey did not recall having seen her. The woman registered as Mrs. J. H. Mandell of Greenfield. Authorities have been unable to trace anyone by that name. Mrs. John Moran, proprietor of the New Essex House, says the woman said Dillon was her maiden name.

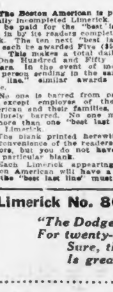

A label on the coat, the trademark of a women's outfitter in Lowell, is the latest clew to be followed by the police. Apparent effort had been made by the woman to remove all traces of her identity.

Simple Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this just get about four ounces of plain common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement

Plumpness Makes Health

Thin People Heed This.

If you are too thin; if you are pale and sallow; if what you eat seems not to strengthen you; if your lips and cheeks are colorless, it is because your blood is deficient in red corpuscles and disease can easily overcome you, as you have no reserve strength or nourishment to uphold you.

A pharmaceutical product, called 3 grain hypo-nuclane tablets, is much prescribed for these conditions, and if taken for several months, rapidly increases weight and improves the color. Buy in sealed package of any well stocked apothecary shop.—Advertisement.

VILLA RUNS HIS OWN REVOLT

Bandit, on Warpath, Opposing Rebel Leaders as Well as Carranza

Agua Prieta, Mexico, May 4.—Villa is at it again. Just as the Mexican revolution was getting started, with the revolutionists in control of practically all of northern Mexico and preparing to launch a united drive southward to Mexico City, Villa started a revolution all his own along the Durango-Chihuahua State line.

The information was obtained from Villa himself by the International News Service correspondent, who sent a list of questions by military courier to the bandit leaders asking information as to the future policies. While Villa refused to write his answers to the questionnaire sent him, he let it be known by the returning messenger that although he entertains a kindly feeling towards General P. Elias Calles, commander of the Liberal constitutionalists, "he will refuse to indorse or accept the co-operation of such Federal military chiefs as General Manuel Dieguez," who he anticipates will seek to join forces with the rebels when he sees there is no hope for Carranza.

Ships Go Where They Are Needed, Says Daniels

By International News Service.

Washington, May 4.—Naval vessels have not been ordered to Mexico, Secretary of the Navy Daniels stated today.

The State Department reiterated its statement of yesterday that a formal request had been made by the department on the Navy Department for the dispatch of destroyers to the East Coast of Mexico.

Secretary Daniels refused to say whether the Navy Department had received such a request. "Ships go where they are needed," the secretary said, "I will tell you when ships are ordered to Mexico."

There were indications that there is some confusion about the dispatch of vessels to Mexico. It was intimated that the State Departments request did not go directly from Secretary Colby and that this might be responsible for the evident confusion or conflict.

Not a Shot Fired as City of Juarez Fell

By International News Service.

El Paso, Tex., May 4.—Juarez, which fell into the hands of the revolutionists late Monday without a shot being fired, will be closed to international traffic until a satisfactory agreement has been reached between the rebel leaders and Carranza officials of the city.

A general cleanup of vice conditions in the city will be the first administrative step of the revolutionists, the rebel leaders stated. Gambling, long an attraction, is slated to go.

A party of Chicago business men was greeted with cheers and band serenades as they entered the city. They thought it was a reception planned for them until shouts of "Viva, viva Obregon," disclosed that they were in the midst of a revolution. They watched the transformation.

The next north Mexican city of importance against which a drive will be made will be Torreon, the revolutionists state.

BOSTON HUNT IN EKLUND MURDER

That description is identical with those given by the persons who saw the murderers in the Eklund car at other points along the route from Providence to Dorchester.

"The man approached me," said Mulhern today, "in a hasty way and asked for some Jamaica ginger. He appeared nervous, and when I told him I had none he turned quickly and walked out. He crossed the sidewalk diagonally and appeared to enter an automobile. I feel certain that I saw a machine drive up and stop just above my store just before he entered. I hadn't thought of the incident in connection with the murder until Dr. McGraw called the matter to my attention."

The authorities today are bent on ascertaining the business in Boston on the night of April 19 and 21 of the battle gray car which Eklund drove the night he was killed. That it was the same car is beyond all doubt.

The matter of its being here, and the reasons for its being in a Back Bay street, with all its curtains drawn, is at present a mystery. Detectives are bent on solving it. They are impressed that it may reveal some motive other than that of robbery for the killing.

The baffling mystery is today no nearer a solution that it was a week ago. Numerous clews have been investigated and run down.

State Detectives Fleming and Murphy together with Chief of Police Crowley of this city have gone over the entire case again, interviewing the numerous witnesses, but with no great amount of success thus far. The information regarding the Boston trips is the most important of the new material uncovered.

Medical Examiner Atwood in his report to District Attorney Joseph T. Kinney states that death was due to "homicidal fracture of the skull, internal injuries and possible asphyxia." There were several scalp wounds. The fracture was at the temple, extending into the right eye. It brought about hemorrhage on the right side of the brain.

Water was found in the lungs and stomach, and he had swallowed several blades of grass.

State officers visited Dorchester and again questioned those knowing anything of the Eklund case. Good description of his two passengers in the "murder car" were obtained.

TIZRAH I. TOBEY WILL CASE ON IN BOSTON

Brockton, May 4.—Hearing of the contested will case which involves the heirs of the late Miss Tirzah I. Tobey of Wareham was begun in Superior Court here today. Miss Tobey died at the home of her nephew, ex-Mayor John S. Burbank, in December, 1917. The case is to determine the soundness of mind of Miss Tobey when she made the will and to learn whether undue influence was used.

Bartender Is Held in $500

Michael Driscoll of Decatur street, Charlestown, a bartender in the Bunker Hill House, raided by Federal agents was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayes today, charged with selling one gill of whiskey. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $500 until tomorrow.

On March 15 the proprietor of the hotel, which is located at Chelsea and Bunker Hill streets, Charlestown, was arraigned for selling and possessing liquor. The proprietor, Michael Doherty, was held in $500 bail for the Grand Jury.

On the last raid the Federal agents claimed to have seized four quarts of whiskey, one bottle of caramel for coloring, two quarts of 2.75 beer, one pint of vermouth, one-half pint of claret, and a "nip" of Guinness' Stout.

Michael Lyons of London street, East Boston; Daniel Donovan, Webster street, East Boston, and Timothy W. Driscoll of Third street, South Boston, were also arraigned charged with facilitating the transportation of distilled liquor fraudulently imported on the steamship Canopic. All three were held in $500 each for the Grand Jury.

SLUMP IN PRICES PREDICTED

Expert Testifying at 'L' Wage Hearing Expects It Within Six Months

Mayor's letter, "is not only unwarranted, but would work an injustice to certain municipal employes."

He points out that policemen and firemen after five years of service receive $4.93 a day, whereas Elevated employes after one year receive $4.80 a day.

"The Elevated carmen," declares the Mayor, "should not receive any additional compensation until they show themselves worth more, by causing the Elevated to show an increased earning capacity."

Arthur Sturgis, engineer and statistician, testifying today at the State House before the arbitration board, stated that he did not believe there would be a financial panic as a climax to the present inflated prices, but that he expected a slump in prices within six months.

The effects of such a slump, however, would not be generally felt for at least a year, in his belief. He predicted no general reduction before fourteen months.

EXPERT GIVES TESTIMONY.

Mr. Sturgis' testimony was given at the hearing before the board on the demands of carmen for higher wages and betterment of working conditions. The demands included provisions for heated vestibules, a maximum of 95 cents an hour and meal tickets provided by the company for overtime work.

A big drop in prices coming suddenly would mean a country-wide calamity, Mr. Sturgis said. He produced a chart, drawn by himself, showing that the maximum increase in wages had not kept pace with the increase in the cost of living.

The first witness was General Manager Edward Dana of the Elevated, who stated that the overtime pay, meal tickets, extra heat, etc., demanded would alone cost the company $40,000 a year.

William Walsh, business agent of the Carmen's Union, a former conductor, testified that he did not believe the items would total as high as Mr. Dana estimated.

It was shown that Barry attended a dance and was ordered out because he was obnoxious. While undergoing the process the butt of a revolver protruded from the slit in the back of his coat.

"EKLUND CLEWS OVERLOOKED"

Murdered Chauffeur's Sweetheart Charges Police With Laxity.

Providence, May 4.—"Theres' manq a clew along the road that the police have never found. There's many a clew that has been hopelessly lost because the police haven't takn due care."

This is a charge brought by Miss Violet Farley, sweetheart of Oliver Eklund, the murdered taxi driver. Miss Farley explained:

"I, myself, one evening, found out seven important things which the police overlooked. I cannot tell you them now, but if the police do not take some definite action, with results, I think these seven things, which I discovered after the police had been all over the same ground, should be given publicity.

"Just one thing I will tell you. I do not think the place near where the car was found was sufficiently investigated. There are clews all about, neglected by the police; real things which they see, but which mean nothing to them."

TELLS STORY OF HIS LIFE.

Miss Farley then explained how she took certain bits of evidence which she discovered to a police captain. He charged two of his men with giving him quite opposite information, and, taking her evidence, set new forces to work.

A young girl, sorrowing betrothed of the young man who is gone, sits in a quiet parlor in Providence, her week's search ended, and recalls all the ways of the man she loved. A story of his life she pieces together, as she talks. For she will tell you.

"When my Ollie was killed, there was cut off, before his time, a young man who would have made his mark in the business world. Why, just see the obstacles he overcame. He was born, as perhaps you know, of Swedish parents, here in Providence, about twenty-six years ago. His father died when he was only a year and a half. He was the youngest of a large family. Other children are: Mrs. Lillian Eklund Fanning, Mrs. Anna Eklund Brown, Mrs. Ethel Eklund Goddard, Andrew Eklund, dead; Edward and Irving Eklund, a family of seven altogether.

"Although Oliver was very bright at school, he had to leave at grammar, as his mother was a widow. He graduated from the Oxford Grammar School, and, immediately after, went to work at a jeweler's.

"ONLY MAN FOR ME."

"At the time of his death, he was a finished locket maker. Indeed, so soon as he learned his trade, and got his first important position, he wasn't in the place a week before he was made foreman.

"So time went. And, seven years ago now, when he was nineteen and I sixteen, we met. I knew he was the only man for me, young as I was. And he always told me I was the only girl he cared for; the only girl he ever went with.

"I know this to be true. Other men may have this girl and that, while they tell the real girl there are no others, but not my Ollie. Deceit was not in him. And I had all his heart.

"We planned to be married in September. His mother didn't want him to work except at his trade; I didn't, but he would say, 'Oh, now, don't mind. We'll have all the more money.' So, you see, it was really his ambition that sent him to his grave.

VOTE BATTLES STIR G.O.P.

Contests in Indiana and California Today Expected to Be Close

son, Governor Lowden and Senator Harding.

The betting here is that these four aspirants will come out of the Indiana primary in the following order: Wood, Johnson, Lowden, Harding, without a majority for anybody. This would mean an uninstructed delegation to the Chicago convention, the Indiana law being that the presidential preference must be indicated by a majority of the votes cast, otherwise the State's delegation goes without instructions.

Each of the candidates has been up and down and across the State.

Had Johnson remained in the distance it is more than half admitted that Wood, in all probability, would have obtained a majority.

Senator Johnson did not remain in the distance. Senator William E. Borah of Idaho was among the Johnson cohorts.

One result of this raid of Johnson and Borah into Indiana has been to make it difficult to get advantageous Wood money in the betting on first place.

"The Johnson vote is the unknown quantity in the Indiana equation," one Republican here put it. "He and his friends made a violent fight against the League of Nations and kindred issues, and it is certain their audiences were very enthusiastic."

Johnson's friends predicted today he would lead the field with a substantial plurality. At Wood's headquarters no claims were being made.

The Johnson faction here is even more confident as to the result of the California primary. Members predict an overwhelming majority over Hoover. Hooverites merely smile at this.

Should either Johnson or Hoover be in the also ran class in California it would be such a blow to the loser's Chicago prospects that it is problematical if a recovery would be possible.

Wood's Majority in Maryland Is 7,841

By International News Service.

Baltimore, May 4.—Practically complete returns today show that General Leonard Wood has defeated Senator Hiram W. Johnson for the Republican presidential preference in Maryland.

Geeral Wood's vientory was decisive. Practically complete returs from the entire State gave Wood 15,900 votes, as against 8,059 for Johnson, a majority for General Wood of 7,841. There was no Democratic contest.

The vote, as was expected, was unusually light. Interest was lacking.

General Wood carried all the counties with the exception of Allegheny and Washington counties in Western Maryland. Senator Johnson made his best showing in Allegheny County, where he received a majority of slightly over 800. General Wood carried all four legislative districts in Baltimore city.

General Wood will have the sixteen votes from Maryland to the national convention. All of the sixteen delegates will be chosen by the Republican State convention, in which according to returns, Wood will have 116 of the 129 votes in that gathering.

CHARGE DOUBLE DEAL IN STRIKE

New Bedford Manufacturers Say Loom Fixers Are Choosing Best Jobs

New Bedford, May 4.—Charges that loom fixers were taking advantage of the strike called in sympathy with them, to secure the pick of jobs in mills not affected, were made in a statement by the manufacturers today.

This statement, signed by the New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers Association, and issued following a meeting at the Wamsutta Club, was as follows:

"The mills have made substantial gains and all are running. What appears to be one of the peculiar conditions is that while a large portion of the operatives are engaged in a sympathetic strike for the loom fixers, many of the latter are taking advantage of the present situation and are getting the pick of the jobs from some of the mills not involved."

All the textile mills of the city were in operation today, including the two closed yesterday at the beginning of the strike of 15,000 operatives.

Mill agents claimed hundreds were returning to work. Union heads maintained that their followers were standing fast, and that within a few days a complete tie-up of the mill industry would be brought about.

Union firemen will meet all over the city tonight to decide whether to launch a general sympathetic strike. Heads of the textile union set high hopes on the firemen, and say that if they join the strikers the mills will be compelled to close for lack of expert help within a week.

There was no disorder today. Tickets were out in force, but the mass of strikers remained at home because of the rain.

Strike benefits will be discussed tonight at a meeting of the Mule Spinners' Union in Labor Temple. All members were urged today to attend.

The meeting was called by former State Senator Samuel Ross, executive secretary of the Mule Spinners' Union. The question of levying an assessment on all members still at work will be discussed.

Plans are on foot for a meeting in Wells Memorial Building, Boston, Saturday, for which delegates from the Mule Spinners' Union will be designated tonight. The executive secretary of the International Spinners' Union will attend the Boston meeting.

Notices were posted on all mill gates here today that the mills were guarded by a detective agency of Boston. The local police were on hand as usual to preserve order.

A special detail of police has been assigned to guard the home of Walter H. Langshaw, president of the Manufacturers' Association. It was in his mill that the trouble which led to the strike started.

Few meetings were called by the strikers. The Textile Council itself met, discussed the progress of the strike, and adjourned until somerow night when reports from the various locals will be received and future action decided upon. The only operatives still working, according to the council, which claims 98 per cent of its members obeyed the strike call, are those unable to understand English.

According to Abraham Rinns, president of the council, the strike is not called for an increase in wages nor is it a "sympathetic" strike.

Mill Officials to Refuse Engineers' Demands

Lawrence, May 3.—Mill officials declare they will not submit to the demands made by the mill engineers calling for shorter hours and more pay and will face the possibility of a complete tie-up Thursday morning when the engineers will remain away from the mills. No reply will be made to the letter of demands.

A meeting of the union will be held tonight to complete plans for the strike. International officers will be present to take charge of the situation.

Fall River Mill Men Discuss Market

Fall River, May 4.—Committees from the Manufacturers and Textile Council met and discussed the market situation. No figures concerning the question of an increase in wages were mentioned for the present. Another conference will be held very shortly and the representatives of the Council will then have a proposition to make.

PLAN GENERAL R.R. STRIKE

Harbor Tieup Also Threatened If Brotherhood Wage Demands Are Ignored

By International News Service.

Washington, May 4.—There will be a general railroad strike tying up every railroad system in the country and the harbor of New York if the Railroad Labor Board rules unsatisfactorily on wage demands or if in event of a satisfactory decision the railroad companies use dilatory tactics.

This has been decided by the eighteen organizations in the railroad union alliance including the "Big Four" brotherhoods and the Mates and Pilots' Association, it was learned today.

The union leaders express faith in the fairness of the board, but are suspicious of the railroad companies and are preparing machinery for strike action if necessary as a last resort. They declare the men will not wait much longer and, when the presentation of their cases is concluded, will again urge upon the labor board the necessity of action, and vigorously fight any move of the carriers for delay.

They have decided not to ask for temporary relief from the board, fearing that the temporary increase granted might be too small to satisfy the men and have the effect of delaying final action.

The unions expect to conclude their cases before the board by Saturday. The railroad companies will present their arguments when the board, after a recess, resumes public hearings in Chicago, May 17.

WHOLESALE LIQUOR DEALERS ARE WARNED

Wholesale liquor dealers who sell their stocks illegally for beverage purposes, acquiring vast profits, and then report that they have been robbed, will be penalized, according to a warning by Supervising Agent William J. McCarthy. Agent McCarthy declared that his department will not accept the subterfuge and that in each case a careful investigation will be made. Where guilt is established the government will revoke the dealer's permit and prosecute to the full extent of the law.

CAUSES MOTHER'S ARREST, THEN HAS HER FREED

On the plea of her daughter, who had a change of heart after causing her mother's arrest on a charge of assault and battery, Mrs. Theresa Amoty, fifty-two years old, of Sumner street, East Boston, was placed on probation today by Judge Barnes. The daughter is Mrs. Agnes D'India of Sumner street. Testimony showed that the daughter, who is divorced, went to see her mother and that the latter attacked her in a quarrel.

EDGAR SEES THREE HANDICAPS ON AMERICAN TRADE

This is the second of a series of articles by a leading British financier and economist who controls $1,000,000,000 worth of shipping, oil and steel interests. He expounds the British viewpoint that the present prosperity of the United States in world trade is merely a "flash in the pan." And that Britain is speedily recovering her supremacy.

By SIR EDWARD MacKAY EDGAR,
Noted British Financier.

London, May 4.—The strength and resources of the United States and its general position in world economy are such as to make America virtually independent of a service which to us, in our island home, is a matter of life or death—a merchant marine.

Or, take again foreign trade and international finance. Before the war Americans were not particularly interested in foreign commerce. There was no necessity that they should be. Their combined exports and imports probably did not amount to much more than one-tenth of their vast internal trade, and of these exports agricultural produce and products of mines and forests and fisheries represented more than 70 per cent., and finished products less than 30 per cent.

Roughly speaking, America in 1913 was still owing the piker she had taken in international commerce to Nature's bounty rather than to man's skill. There have been, I know, great changes since then, but I question whether these changes will be permanent.

Americans no longer regard foreign trade as a sort of overflow from their home trade, a convenient way of disposing of their surplus. They realize today that it is inseparably linked with the prosperity of the country as a whole, with its manufacturers as well as its agriculture, and that a severe drop in exports must throw all American industry out of its stride.

These are the three distinct handicaps America suffers from in entering foreign markets.

In other words, Americans have not studied foreign commerce as closely as Germany and ourselves have been obliged to study it, and they are much less anxious to manufacture for a limited market and to meet the whims or convenience of foreign customers in matters of quantity, packing, credits, and all the little details which in the aggregate mean so much.

Second—Americans have not yet acquired the knack of getting on with foreign people.

Third—This is the greatest of all obstacles to the development of a large foreign trade by Americans. They are only just beginning to realize the intimate connection between export of goods and export of capital.

Important to All Women Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe despondent; it makes anyone so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

REVERE MAN AWARDED $4,000 FOR INJURIES

James F. Webber of Revere will receive $4,000 as a result of the passage of an order authorizing payment of this sum by the Boston City Council. Webber was knocked down by a patrol wagon in East Boston on January 1, 1920, sustaining permanent injuries. The Council also accepted chapter 179, Acts of 1920, which provides for the pensioning of foremen, inspectors, mechanics, drawtenders, assistant drawtenders and storekeepers employed by cities and towns.

Pretzel Firm Fails as Saloons Drop Out

Philadelphia, May 4.—One by one, old-time friends of John Barleycorn take the count. The sheriff rang the bell on a pretzel factory here and the plant and equipment of a once nourishing business will go to the highest bidder.

Every saloon that has dropped out has decreased the pretzel market by one unit.

They all used to have them, remember?

THREE SURFMEN LOSE LIVES

Naval Sailboat Fills and Sinks in Portsmouth Harbor During Squall

Portsmouth, N. H., May 4.—Caught in a heavy squall two miles from Whaleback Lighthouse in this harbor, a thirty-foot naval sailboat filled and sank, causing three of the four surfmen, attached to the U. S. lifesaving station, who manned the craft, to lose their lives.

The dead: Sherman E. Parker, aged twenty, St. Elizabeth, Me.; Leo E. Foss, aged seventeen, and Reginald Chesterton, aged nineteen, both residents of Jonesport, Maine. Elmer E. Alley's life was saved.

The United States Coast Guard at Wood Island Station No. 12, noticed, when the squall had passed, that the boat had disappeared. Captain Charles Hand, whose daughter was recently married to Parker, put out to the rescue of his son-in-law and mates.

Hand found Parker clinging to a spar and Alley floating on a life preserver. The men were rushed to the U. S. Army Hospital at Fort Constitution where efforts to save Parker were unavailing. After two hours' treatment the physicians abandoned efforts to save his life. Alley was little the worse for his experience, suffering slightly from exposure.

A search for the bodies of the two missing men was instituted without success.

FOIL EFFORT TO DEFEAT BONUS

Insurgents Demand Committee Draft Sales Tax Substitute Section at Once

By Universal Service.

Washington, May 4.—Republican insurgent leaders in the House took steps to forestall any attempt the party leaders may make to defeat the soldier aid legislation by delaying its consideration until too late to pass it at this session.

A demand was presented that the Ways and Means Committee immediately be called into session to draft a substitute for the abandoned sales tax section and consider other changes which may be proposed in presenting this demand. The insurgents let it be known that they will brook no unnecessary delay in re-drafting the measure.

As a result of developments the insurgent leaders declared the prospects for soldier aid legislation at this session "are brighter than ever," the opponents of the bill, they believe, will not run the risk of provoking a wider breach in the party organization by resorting to dilatory tactics in the face of the determination of a large majority to put the measure through.

WILSON HATED, SAYS TERHUNE

Declares War Made World Worse Than Ever and Sees Another Conflict Coming

"We were told by the preachers that the war was making people lead better lives," declared Everit B. Terhune, General Manager of the Boot and Shoe Recorder, at the luncheon of the Pilgrim Publicity Association today. "That was all rot. Moral conditions produced by the war are worse than ever before. The dominant motive everywhere is selfishness."

Mr. Terhune, who has just returned from a tour of France, Germany, and other European countries, described President Wilson as "the most hated man on the Continent," and asserted that the idea of a league of nations was "utterly futile."

"Europe is a hotbed of hatreds," he said. "There is one feeling in all minds—that another war will be required to settle matters. The French are scared to death of the Germans, but in their triumphant delirium seek to exact indemnities that it is impossible to pay.

"England will wipe us off the map as a commercial power if we do not wake up."

REPORT 'RED' INQUIRY HERE BY CONGRESS

Reports were current in the Federal Building today that a congressional committee was on the way here from Washington to make an investigation of the handling of the "Red" situation in New England last January. Officials of the Department of Justice expressed ignorance of the proposed visit. Some of them declared that they welcomed an investigation. Superintendent George Kelleher of the Bureau of Investigation of the department did not start on his scheduled trip to Alaska.

URGES CONSOLIDATION OF BAY STATE PRISONS

Consolidation of county and State prisons, under control of the State, was urged by Arthur D. Hill, corporation counsel of the city of Boston, who appeared before the Legislative Committee on Public Institutions today, at the hearing on a recommendation contained in the report of the special committee of the Legislature, appointed last year to investigate certain State institutions.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS
HAIR GROWN ON MR. BRITTAIN'S BALD HEAD BY INDIANS' MYSTERIOUS HAIR GROWER
My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that as he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth.
Yet now, at an age over 66, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair. No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs.
Indians' Secret of Hair Growth
At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian "medicine man" who had an elixir that he asserted would grow hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement, a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and are long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days.
From recent photo.
That I was astonished and happy is expressing my state of mind mildly. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparation for this yesterdays elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist.
That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved. Many men and women, also children, have reported satisfactory results from Kotalko.
How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair
My honest belief is that hair roots rarely die even when the hair falls out through dandruff, fever, excessive dryness or other disorders. I have been told by experts that often when hair falls out the roots become imbedded within the scalp, covered by hard skin, so that they remain for a time like bulbs or seeds in a bottle which will grow when fertilized. Shampoos (which contain alkali) and hair lotions which contain alcohol are examples to the hair, as they dry it, making it brittle. Kotalko contains those elements of nature which give new vitality to the scalp and hair.

SAYS HEBREW BAKERS REDUCE EFFICIENCY

Charges that members of the Hebrew Bakers' Union, some of whom are on strike, have interfered with the management of bakeries so as to reduce their efficiency, were made today by Philip Green, secretary of the Master Hebrew Bakers' Association. He said: "The Hebrew Bakers' Union, Local No. 45, has a system of jobbing or substituting, as they call it, these substitutes replacing the regularly employed once every week or fortnight. It is a device for automatic wage increases. They have been continually adding bylaws for daily increases from the regular employes, which in turn were forced upon us sixfold to cover the weekly wage." Greed said wages had been raised from $14, $24 and $44 a week for helpers and $7 and $8 a day for others last year to $16, $28 and $60 to $70 a week for helpers and $10 and $11 a day for jobbers.

First 'Dry' Year Costs U. S. $531,000,000

By International News Service.

Washington, May 4.—Prohibition enforcement will cost during its first year about $500,000,000 to be expended by the government and $27,220,360 raised, and to be expended by the Anti-Saloon League, and the direct revenue loss to the government through destruction of the liquor trade was $444,000,000, Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts today told the House.

"The government and the people will be out, therefore, a total of $531,220,360 the first year," said Gallivan.

"But crime has not vanished, real crime is increasing," he said. "During 1919 there were 119 attacks on banks in Illinois, netting losses of $807,000, as compared with fifteen such attacks in 1918, and a net loss of about $10,000."

TRY SCIENTISTS IN DEATH CASE

Daughter Died of Diphtheria; Parents Refused to Call Medical Aid

By International News Service.

Newark, N. J., May 4.—Dr. Richard N. Connolly, prominent bacteriologist, appeared today as a witness against Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Walker, on trial on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of their daughter Dorothy from diphtheria.

Both Walker and his wife are Christian Scientists. The State charges that they refused to call medical aid for the child and instead called in Christian Scientist practitioners.

"It is practically impossible to cure diphtheria without the use of antitoxin," testified the bacteriologist. "Prior to the introduction of antitoxin in 1894 diphtheria was looked upon as one of the most terrifying and dreaded diseases of childhood, but now we have no fear of it."

Counsel for the Walkers objected to the testimony. "We admit," said Attorney Benjamin Weinberg, "that the child died of diphtheria."

Weinberg contended that his clients did not know the child was suffering from a serious or contagious illness.

"These people," he argued, "had a religious conviction to cure ailments by prayer and a religious conviction against the use of medicine. Christian Science is not on trial here. If they had known the child was suffering from a serious illness they would have called a physician."

It is reported that the father-in-law interfered in the domestic relations of the couple.

A Beauty Secret of a Famous Actress

This woman still has the bloom of youth—yet she is not nearly as young as her picture shows. Adored for her art by theater-goers, her charm away from the footlights is even more compelling. Yet at 20 she began to get prematurely gray. Today her hair is indescribably beautiful, soft, glossy and fine.

"I wished," said she, "all women could be made to realize that it is their duty to be young-looking and beautiful. Gray and faded hair mars the prettiest face and detracts from one's charm, say what you will. If it harms one nothing to pink the cheeks and powder the nose, why should one be against restoring the hair to its original beauty? I found in HAY'S HAIR HEALTH my salvation. With this famous preparation I have been able to keep my hair as beautiful as it is today."

HAY'S HAIR HEALTH is not a dye, nor will it discolor the scalp. It is absolutely harmless and will bring back all of the beauty that was once in your hair. It also revives and stimulates the growth of the hair and prevents it from falling out. It does not rub off or interfere with shampooing or waving the hair. It is just what you need to give you the bloom and beauty of youth. The results will delight you. Sold by all druggists and wherever toilet goods are sold.—Adv.

'OUI' MADAME' PLEASES AT WILBUR

"Oui, Madame," a musical comedy by Victor Herbert and Robert B. Smith, began an engagement at the Wilbur Theatre last evening. The house was crowded and very appreciative.

Victor Herbert, himself, conducted the orchestra and introduced us to a very light but merry and melodious score. The genius which enabled the composer to churn out melodies at the rate of two or three operettas a year, and which has permitted him to do so for a period of close on to thirty years, doesn't show any signs of fading. "Oui, Madame" may not be the greatest score he has ever written, but its tunes are fresh and delightful.

Georgia O'Ramey is the featured member of the cast of "Oui, Madame," but Billy Kent is in the cast and provides a large share of the merriment.

The story of "Oui Madame" is one of the most idiotic yet set to music. It has no particular beginning or ending and its chief use is to permit Miss O'Ramey, Mr. Kent and half a dozen clever dancers to romp on and do their specialties.

Georgia O'Ramey plays a servant girl with ambitions toward the stage. Billy Kent is a janitor, disguised as an aristocrat who has jilted Georgia in the past and who is busy keeping out of her sight and reach. He has a mermaid tattooed upon his right leg and Georgia's efforts to get him where she can roll up his trouser leg supplies most of the plot.

The pair work most effectively together. O'Ramey is almost too good looking to go in for the rough and tumble comedy which she favors, but she gets large quantities of laughs. Kent is one of the best comedians who have drifted into musical comedy in the past five years. The best thing in the show is a dance of intoxication in which he holds the stage for close to twenty minutes.

May Thompson, the dainty and beautiful little Emellish dancer, has a couple of specialities with John V. Lowe, which please very much. The troupe possesses a singer in the person of Adele Hassan, who combines blonde pulchritude with a soprano voice of unusual range, power and beauty.

Vinton Freedley, Hattie Burke and Catherine Doucet help to make things go.

ORPHEUM THEATRE — William Demarest and Estelle Collette, popular vaudeville entertainers, appear in a skit of trifling talk, fancy fiddling and a clever cello manipulation at the Orpheum this week. It is music of the type that is needed in the present day vaudeville offerings. Milton Pollack and company presented a clever one-act comedy styled "Speaking to Father." Octavo, the beautiful songster, introduced a novel song repertoire which does her great credit. Guilfport and Brown sang and danced away a few happy moments, to the delight of the audience. "The Devil's Claim," a new Oriental drama of the most daring and adventurous sort, served as a striking vehicle for Sessue

GORDON'S OLYMPIA—Again Nazimova has come to the screen and carried her audience fairly out of itself by the sheer power of her emotional depths and the finish of her performance. Last evening at Gordon's Olympia this great Russian star justified once more her right to be acclaimed the world's greatest actress when she appeared in her most recent production, "The Heart of a Child," a photoplay adapted by Charles Bryant from the novel by Frank Danby.

Coming Events

TREMONT THEATRE—Next Monday will mark the introduction to Boston playgoers of the George M. Cohan Comedians, who will present the new musical comedy, "Mary," at the Tremont Theatre. The book and lyrics were written by Otto Harbach and Frank Mandel, and the music is by the brilliant and successful young composer, Lou Hirsh.

TESTIMONIAL TO BOX OFFICE MEN

Announcement is made that through the courtesy of Messrs. Oliver Morosco and the Selwyns, the performances of William Courtenay, in "Civilian Clothes," on Monday evening, May 10, will be rendered as a testimonial to the popular box office men at Selwyns' Park Square Theatre, James R. Kean, treasurer, and Edward Halpin, assistant treasurer.

Vaudeville Benefit

Next Wednesday 400 vaudeville theatres in the United States and Canada will give the entire proceeds of a matinee performance to the National Vaudeville Association relief fund, by means of which it is aimed to give each member of the association a paid-up life insurance policy of $1000 and provide a sick benefit fund.

MALDEN AUDITORIUM — It is many weeks since Malden theatregoers have had an opportunity to laugh such as is furnished by "She Walked in Her Sleep," the current production at the Malden Auditorium. The talented members of the Temple stock company have made the most of every role.

SOMERVILLE THEATRE — "The Man Envelope" contained a message of joy to the patrons of the Somerville Theatre, and yesterday's performances delighted two capacity audiences. Stamped with a success-mark in New York it was heralded with delight by Somervillelites with its bright and snappy dialogue and fine action.

CODMAN SQUARE THEATRE—A program of exceptional interest is being offered the first half of this week at the Codman Square Theatre, Dorchester, and patrons of this popular playhouse are unstinting in their praise.

SEE HAMPDEN FIRST TIME AS SHYLOCK

In his first appearance on any stage in the role of Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," Walter Hampden again proved himself capable of being the person imagined by Shakespeare. As in Hamlet, the audience at the Boston Opera House saw a living and very human individual, with all the meanmesses which human individuals are so prone to exhibit.

Hampden's Shylock is not the maudlin figure that others, alleged to be master interpreters of the bard, have made him. He is a narrow-minded, vicious old scoundrel, on whom sympathy was wasted.

Those who have seen quite excellent players, but mediocre thinkers, struggling to torture the vile and bigoted old fellow that Shakespeare conceived, into a piteous figure, felt a relief which amounted almost to ecstasy when a vengeful plutocrat was revealed with Hampden's entrance.

At the same time, Hampden did not sacrifice the dignity which characters otherwise abominable may possess. Only in the court scene, when he finds himself stripped of his prized hoardings, does all of the dignity of Hampden's Shylock abandon him—as we may imagine the dignity of the patriarchs to have vanished under similar circumstances.

For the rest of the cast, Beatrice Maure was quite perfect, as all who saw her in the part of Juliet knew she would be. Mary Hall, as Portia, one may say did well. The various Venetian men-about-town were portrayed adequately.

As Launcelot Gobbo, LeRoi Operti was endurable, unless one compared him with Allan Thomas as Old Gobbo. The carnival scene was as dismal as any real carnival could be expected to be.

COLUMBIA THEATRE — Yesterday's program at Lowe's Columbia Theatre comprised two pictures of widely varying character. "The Tattler," with Madelaine Traverse, was in keeping with all the works of this talented beauty and furnished keen amusement.

Other Theatres

PLYMOUTH THEATRE — "The Charm School," a new comedy with music based upon a serial recently published in the Saturday Evening Post, began an engagement at the Plymouth last night. It will be reviewed in detail in Wednesday's American.

MAJESTIC THEATRE — "Howdy Folks," a character comedy which has been seen and appreciated in New York and Chicago opened its season in Boston at the Majestic Theatre last night. It will be reviewed in detail in Wednesday's American.

GLOBE THEATRE—A power to fascinate and hold an audience is the gift of Sessue Hayakawa, whose latest picture, "The Devil's Claim," is shown at Lowe's Globe Theatre the initial half of this week.

GAYETY THEATRE — "Without Rhyme or Reason" is the title of the merry show presented by the "Maids of America" company at the Gayety Theatre this week and it made a real hit with those who saw it yesterday. It is a beautifully mounted and costumed entertainment and the music is above average. Little Bobby Barry is the life of the piece, appearing as Irving and using many quiets. He is an odd comedian with a method unlike any other who comes this way and his fun is appreciated.

SCOLLAY SQUARE OLYMPIA—John Barrymore has added another to the list of remarkable dramatic portrayals that he has been offering on the stage and screen during recent years. The vehicle is the photoplay version of Robert Louis Stevenson's famous story, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." It is being shown at Scollay Square Olympia Theatre this week.

A brilliant feature has been engaged for the headline attraction of the vaudeville bill, which contains five numbers. This big attraction is Myers and Hanford, "The Boys from Astcaucus," and other extraordinary acts. The Olympic News Weekly and a new comedy complete the bill.

UPHAM'S CORNER STRAND—Elsie Ferguson's regal beauty and talents as an emotional actress were never given a more fitting screen vehicle than the picturization of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero's play, "Iris House in Order," in which she opened a three days' run at the Upham's Corner Strand Theatre last evening.

COURT FORBIDS WOMAN'S BURIAL IN FAMILY LOT

Judge Wait of the Superior Court has perpetually enjoined the burial of the late Julia A. Bullard of Worcester in a lot at the Oak Grove Cemetery at Holliston, owned by the heirs of her late husband, Henry E. Bullard, of Holliston. It appeared that the deceased, who was the second wife of Henry Bullard, entered into an ante-nuptial contract, in which she relinquished all rights in real estate belonging to her prospective husband.

Are You Losing Your Grip on Health?

Physician's Prescription to Increase the Health and Strength of Anaemic, Run-down Men and Women

As a result of the tremendous strain of modern living so many people find that the nerve cells have become devitalized, the whole system weakened and thousands of men and women are today losing their grip on health simply because their blood is thinning out and possibly starving through lack of iron. It is through iron in the red coloring matter of the blood that life sustaining oxygen enters the body and enables the blood to change food into living tissue, muscle and brain. If people would only keep their blood filled with strength-giving iron by taking Nuxated Iron when they feel weak and run-down they might readily build up their red blood corpuscles and quickly become stronger and healthier in every way. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Nuxated Iron will increase the strength of weak, nervous, "run-down" men and women in two weeks' time in many instances. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Nuxated Iron is on sale at all good druggists.

DENIES SCIENCE CASE MOTIONS

Judge Pierce Refuses to Make Attorney General and Dittemore Defendants

The Christian Science controversy was again before Judge Pierce in the Supreme Court today on motions of Sherman L. Whipple that the attorney general and John V. Dittemore be made party defendants to the bill of the directors of the church against the trustees of the publishing society, in which the directors ask the court to remove the trustees and order them to make an accounting of their trust. Mr. Whipple said he had made the motions to expedite the case.

Judge Pierce, in denying the motions, remarked that he had had a conference with the attorney general, and believed the latter would come into court with a bill which would give him a standing to act on behalf of the Commonwealth.

Mr. Whipple said the attorney general had been informed the trustees were prepared to furnish him a complete account of their doings, and were willing to bear the expense of employing expert accountants. Mr. Whipple said he trusted the directors would do likewise.

Mr. Whipple intimated that in a future proceeding the directors might be before the court for alleged violation of the injunction of Judge Braley against interfering with the business of the publishing society. Mr. Whipple said the directors, in causing to be circulated statements that the periodicals of the publishing society were not the works of Mrs. Eddy, had done untold injury.

John L. Bates said he would be prepared to satisfy the court that the injunction had been observed.

Judge Pierce remarked that if the directors were sent to jail for contempt the proceedings in court would still go on.

Judge Pierce gave Mr. Bates until May 20 to determine whether he would demur or take other measures to reply to the answer of the trustees in the suit of the directors asking for their removal.

"POPS" OPEN SEASON AT SYMPHONY

The "Pops" are with us again.

Hundreds of people gathered in Symphony Hall for the opening night of these ever-popular concerts by members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. To be sure, it was not like the opening nights of other years. The Eighteenth Constitutional Amendment, having to do with the dispensing of liquid refreshments with a "kick," has put an awful crimp in the "Pops," as well as in entertainment elsewhere.

The "pep" of opening nights of other years, when a fellow got outside a bottle or two of Scotch ale from earthenware bottles, was missing. An alliterative press agent might refer to them as the "Pepless Pops."

While the "Pops" are not quite like the "Pops" of yesteryear, they are still worth going to. It would be difficult to get such a high-class entertainment anywhere for so small a sum of money, especially in these days of the HCL of everything.

Not only was the floor crowded at the opener, but the balconies as well, and the true test of whether an entertainment is worth while is the attendance in the upper part of the house.

Many prefer to sit in the last row of the second balcony in Symphony Hall to listen to the music than on the floor. In the balconies you will find real music lovers.

Agide Jacchia is the conductor again this year. He is an artist of the first class. It was a pleasure to watch him as he put every ounce of energy into the direction of the musicians. His conducting of Mascagni's Intermezzo from "L'Amico Fritz" was superb.

Among the first nighters was Miss [illegible], who has sung many times in opera under Mr. Jacchia at Montreal. She regards him as the most capable conductor of "La Boheme" under whom she has sung.

Several persons who have attended every first night since the institution of the "Pops," more than thirty years ago, were present, including some of Boston's best families. The season is to [illegible]

'RICHELIEU' OF MANTELL A TRIUMPH

Robert B. Mantell, eminent actor, ages well and mellows in the process. Witness his "Richelieu," with which he opened a fortnight of Bulwer Lytton and Shakespeare last night at the Hollis Street Theatre.

Mantell has lost none of his personal power nor his ability to surround himself with a capable supporting company. We recall favorably his "Richelieu" of a decade ago, but far more favorably were we impressed by his "Richelieu" of 1920. While perhaps no more faithful, it unquestionably is more finished, more compact, and even more heartily enjoyable.

Mantell exemplifies the spirit of the old guard that dies but never surrenders, and as such he is always welcome to Boston. One moment last night found him rising to superb heights of histrionic power with his character, only to be dragged by his lines almost immeditely to the very brink of senile oblivion. Genuine artistry is required to play such a part without overplaying it, and Mantell, we believe, possesses that artistry to a marked degree.

Miss Genevieve Hamper made a winning Juliet and found a fitting foil in George Stillwell as Adrian. John Alexander proved charmingly contemptible as Baradas. Henry Butler's Joseph was excellent. Edward Lewers as Louis, Frank Compton as Gaston, Guy Lindsley as Francois, George Wilson as Huguet and Miss Marion Evensen as Marion de Lorme, all had been carefully chosen for their parts.

The production was well costumed, creditably staged and moved forward with pleasing dispatch. It is to be regretted that a larger audience was not present to enjoy "Richelieu," but the empty seats reverberated with the applause of those fortunate enough to be in attendance.

"Hamlet," the "Merchant of Venice," "King Lear," "Macbeth" and "Richard III," are included in Mr. Mantell's repertoire for the remainder of the week, and for the second week a new scenic production of "Julius Caesar," with Mr. Mantell as Brutus, is promised.

TANNEN MAKES BIG HIT AT KEITH'S

Julius Tannen, star of "Potash and Perlmutter," is at Keith's this week, and tells Bostonians a great many things which, but for low visibility on the humorous horizon, should have been discovered long ago by many. Mr. Tannen's monologue is so funny that the laughs over-lap. And he concludes an inimitable piece de resistance in vaudeville with an appropriate and timely patriotic reading. His humor is a Spring tonic.

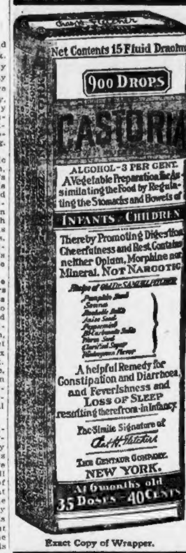

The band plays different music when Jack Norworth comes to town, and so it is again this week at Keith's where Jack is to be found with his constant partners, originality and pep. Also with him is vivacious Jeanette Adair, a handsome young woman with a fine voice. "The Person With the Personality," as Norworth has been called, has a bevy of new songs, jokes and quips sent over the footlights in the old effective way. Jack's personality fits any kind of audience like a glove.

Frances Pritchard, lately with the "Midnight Century Whirl," appears in a brand new, honest-to-goodness novelty—"The Dance Duel," with two clever assistants. Miss Venita Gould gives excellent "impressions" of well-known stars. Eleanore Cochran, song-bird international, is a sweet singer. George Rockwell and Al Fox give a screamingly funny "nut" act. Grey and Old Rose is an acte delice, while there is Enos Frazere in thrillers, and the Van Cellos in stunning trapeze work to wind up a top-notch bill, which includes the usual k'nograms.

WALDRON'S CASINO—A well-known critic recently paid the following tribute to Lew Kelly. "Lew Kelly begins where the other comedians usually leave off." Those who are acquainted with Kelly's work will realize that there is a whole lot of truth in this criticism. He is at Waldron's Casino all the week at the head of Jack Singer's "The Kelly Show." Mr. Kelly, the star, is in his same character this year, but the material is all brand new. The vehicle for this season's production is called "The Submarine Man."

LOVE SUIT AGAINST WEYMOUTH MAN

A breach of promise suit for $15,000 was filed in the Norfolk County Superior Court today against Henry A. Clark of Weymouth by Mary Jenkins of Somerville. Property amounting to the amount called for in the suit and in possession of Clive T. Cox of Quincy, has been attached.

[illegible] for Party Platforms.

(Washington Bureau of The Journal of Commerce.)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Shipping legislation during the present session of Congress presents a number of remarkable features, the chief of which is the non-partisan character of the efforts that are now being made for the speedy enactment of laws that will assist in the permanent upbuilding of the merchant marine.

Unlike previous years there are no divisions on issues along party lines. More than a dozen bills on shipping have been recommended unanimously by the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries and have been passed by the House without a vote, according to parties. The same situation prevails [in the] Senate. Measures under discu[ssion] [illegible]

Pulling Together for a Permanent Merchant Marine

FOR the first time since the Civil War we have a real merchant marine. This fleet of American-owned ships operated under the American flag cost us $3,000,000,000.

Since 1917 we have spent as much money building ships as was represented by the value of all the ships in the world before the war.

Are we going to keep this great fleet?

From every quarter the answer to this question is YES. But how?

1. Congress is now formulating constructive measures designed to keep the American flag upon the seas.
2. It is evident that these measures should take the form of law BEFORE Government vessels are sold to private owners, since it is apparent that ships sold in advance of pending Congressional action will be sold at a price too low if a strong shipping policy is resolved upon; and too high if America is to remain in a position of weakness on the seas.
3. Congress in 1915 passed the Seaman's Act to raise the standard of American labor at sea. This act, which has made seafaring an attractive avocation for Americans, has operated to equalize the cost of operation as between American and foreign vessels. The Seaman's Law, therefore, should remain in force in substantially its present form. Constructive legislation will do for the American ship what this Act has done for the American Seaman.

The Committee of American Shipbuilders in a series of advertisements will place before the public their views of the more important phases of the situation.

In this way the Committee hopes to assist in bringing about a right solution of questions vital to the future prosperity of shipbuilding, but equally vital to the safety and prosperity of the nation.

BRAVES TRIUMPH OVER DODGERS IN 19 INNING STRUGGLE

FILLINGIM AND SMITH IN GREAT PITCHERS' BATTLE

WIGWAM FABLES.

Once on a time, there was a ball game at Braves Field. The ath-a-letes played nine innings, and the crowd cheered the hits and runs and errors and everything. When the nine innings were over it was only about 5 30. And one of the outfit was ahead of the other. So the game was ended and everybody went home in time for dinner, etc.

Moral—The Braves weren't playing the Brooklyn Dodgers.

By NICK FLATLEY.

Braves Field is supposed to be the perfectly equipped ball yard But they forgot to put in the adding machines And they sure need them The 1920 Braves are out building up records They should be beaten, but never are, and any team that licks them will have to start very early in the morning, as they say.

Last Saturday said Braves and the Dodgers played twenty-six innings—glorious pitching and baseball and couldn't arrive at a decision. They simply built up a record for distance. The Dodgers were pennant contenders, and the Braves were the unknown quantity. In that record inst the Ns equaled, even shaded, the contenders.

Braves Come Through in Nineteenth

Brooklyn was out for revenge But the Ns were present, foiled the villains for eighteen chapters and then surged through brilliantly in the nineteenth, and won out, 2 to 1, in a game that would have been the season's epic, but for Saturday's super epic.

Following those innings, counting [illegible], remembering the [illegible] details and figuring the pages of [illegible]—or should it be are getting to be too much for the baseball fans. Adding machines and efficiency experts are a crying need at the biggest baseball or[illegible] in captivity.

Outbatted in First Nine Innings

We admitted after Saturday that the Braves had a mighty fine ball club but we don't expect them to shatter all the known rules just to prove it. As the hits went, they should have been beaten in the regular trend of a ball game, being outbatted, 10 to [illegible].

As a matter of fact, they earned [illegible] one run in the normal nine innings while a bad throw by O'Neil, and a moment of aberration by the same Mister presented the lone tally to the Robins.

When it comes around to Dana Fillingim and Sherwood Smith. They swooped into the lasting history of the game by remaining on the overworked mound through all the nineteen flossy chapters. But Dana got the victory and really deserved it.

Two Brooklyn Hits in 12 Innings

After the seventh he was invincible, as the experts put it. During the last twelve innings the Dodgers got just two singles. Only two of them reached second and nobody passed that barrier. Fliny, hit hard in the leg innings, was whistling the ball through at the end like the swish of a swallow, or something.

He has built up a record that threatens Joe Oeschger's. Dana was beaten in Brooklyn, but the Dodgers didn't earn a run. He was defeated here by the Phils, 1 to 0, the sole counter coming when O'Neil dropped a throw at the plate. He went through nineteen stanzas against Brooklyn without a run being earned off his spitter. That makes thirty-seven innings of pitching, without a deserved tally, which is something for the statisticians to marvel at.

Fillingim Not the Whole Works

But Dana wasn't the whole works, not by a jugful, which is a lot these days. His supporting cast was just as sparkling as on Saturday. The early bombardment didn't faze the Braves in the least. They repelled all assaults stout heartedly, and were always knocking at the door of triumph, themselves.

They had countless chances to put the pastime in the ice chest but were always turned back by the superb pinch hitting of S. Smith. That tall South, in addition to heaving spectacularly, scored the Robin run, and made a couple of extra efforts to pry triumph loose.

All in all, it was one of those games that had to be seen to be appreciated. It had a flock of heroes—Maranville, who played in the field like an inspired machine; Johnston, Olson, Kilduff and the outfield for the enemy, the two pitchers, of course, and practically everybody else.

Glory Achieved by Holke and Boeckel

Aside from the flingers, though, the glory of the day was captured by Holke and Boeckel of the Braves. Both figured in the triumphal nineteenth inning run. Boeckel saved the game in the fifth round, and put it on file in the ultimate; Holke knocked off the first run, fielded as keenly as he did Saturday, which is saying all that can be said, and produced a last [illegible] hit that set the stage for the curtain.

The Dodgers were defeated but not disgraced. They are the victims of circumstance, so to speak. They lost Friday 3 to 0, because McQuillan was unhittable, they held their own in Saturday's wild struggle, they took a train Saturday night, played thirteen innings Sunday, jumped a rattler back here, and went through nineteen rounds. Outside of that they have had plenty of rest and so on. Four of their great pitchers have worked to no avail, but they're still scrapping.

Battle Against Darkness

To get back to the lengthy Brave triumph, it was a lot like Saturday. Brooklyn scored in the fifth, and Boston in the sixth. Then they battled against darkness. The umps were ready to call the game in the seventeenth, but a gracious sun broke through the gloom and the finish was more visable than some or the intermediate scenes if you get what we mean.

Those Dodgers broke through in the fifth, after threatening every inning before. With one gone, Smith blazed a single to left. Olson great all day followed with a one shot to the same corner. Neis dropped one in front of the plate and O'Neil hurled to third. The throw was wide and low and apparently headed for the bull pen.

But Boeckel dove, stuck out his bare hand and stopped it, though the force nearly tore the fin loose. That mobbed the corners. Then Johnston dropped a short fly back of first. It looked catchable and Smith hugged third. The ball fell safe, and Smith streaked for the plate.

O'Neil Had Foot Off the Plate

Holke's throw was right on the bull's eye, but O'Neil's foot was off the saucer and the big pitcher scored, when he should have been forced. Olson was following close in and was touched out. A hit followed this, but didn't matter.

The Braves' sixth opened auspiciously, when Powell and Pick walked under the guns. Mann filled the bases with a hit to left. Sullivan slapped into a force at the platter, but Holke came through with a loft to centre that eased off the tieing count.

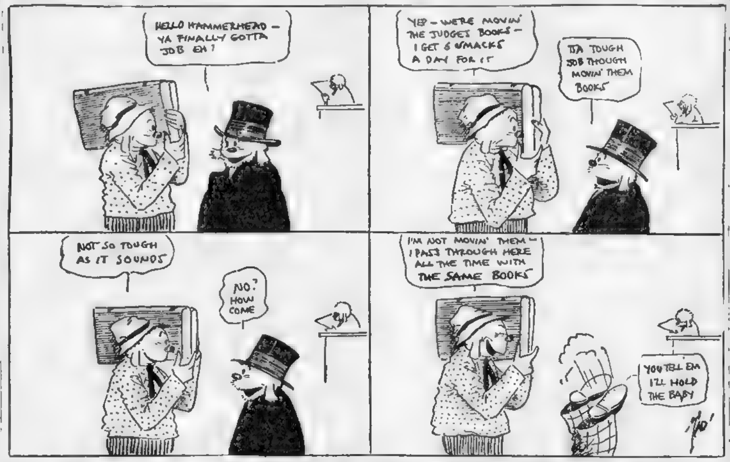

Then, it stretched along to the nineteenth, with the Braves passing up countless opportunities. One dead in the finale, and Sullivan cracked a monosack to left. Holke followed with a stout blow to right and Sull took third. It was up to Boeckel and he plastered the first ball pitched, and sent it whistling past second. And the Braves had finally beaten the Dodgers again after forty-five innings of star spangled baseball.

The rain today spoiled all chance fo another record game and the Braves set sail for Philadelphia.

SCHOOL NINES IN BIG GAMES

Somerville-Cambridge Clash Will Have Big Bearing with Result in Suburban League

By TOM POWER.

The Suburban, City and District High School Leagues get into action today and tomorrow. Four games are on the schedule for the latter's field. Medford and Brookline play at the Teck Field and Somerville and Cambridge Latin play at Russell Field, Cambridge.

Two District High School League games were to be played today. Hyde Park and Charlestown were to play at Charlestown and South Boston was to meet the Boston Trade School at Columbus avenue. East Boston and Dorchester were to play at Dunbar avenue and Malden High and Norwood were to face each other at Norwood.

Commerce and Latin School were to line up in the only City League game of the day. Commerce has played but one league game thus far and that was with the English High. Latin School was the favorite in the game today.

Feature Game Expected at Somerville

The best game of tomorrow's list was expected to come at Somerville with Cambridge Latin and Somerville High meeting.

Cambridge Latin met its first defeat yesterday at the hands of Everett High, which has been materially stregnthened by the return of Buck Sweetland at shortstop. Their defeat ystrday tied them with Somerville High for first place and put Everett tie for third place with Newton. The game tomorrow between Somerville and Cambridge Latin will break the tie for first place.

Three other games on the Suburban League schedule for tomorrow are Newton and Rindge Tech at Russell Field, Malden at Everett and Medford vs. Brookline at the Tech Field, Brookline.

Boston College High School will travel to Concord tomorrow to play the undefeated Middlesex School nine. Coach Daley of B. C. High will send his star battery, Cassell and Mooney, against the private school nine. B. C. High also has been undefeated this season and should return from Concord with their record still clear.

HARVARD-YALE, OXFORD-CAMBRIDGE MEET IN 1921

Harvard and Yale are more than likely to meet Oxford and Cambridge in a track meet next year in England. The British runners who broke the two-mile relay record at Philadelphia Saturday are desirous of carrying back to their native land a promise to this effect. Harvard and Yale, however, are expected to formally pass on the question within a few weeks.

HARVARD FOUR-OARED CREWS MEET ON RIVER

Harvard four-oared crews raced today for the honor of meeting the Middlesex School quartet on the Charles Saturday. The crews lined up as follows:

First—Bow, Tucker; 2, Westengard; 3, Collier, stroke, Wood, cox, Lanman.

Second—Bow, Perkins; 2, Brander, 3, Habicht; stroke, Thayer; cox, Little.

Boxing Won War, Says Lawrence Mayor

Lawrence, May 4.—"Boxing won the war," said Mayor White of Lawrence when an attempt was made to secure O'Sullivan Park for boxing purposes by a private corporation.

Mayor White was in favor of letting the park for boxing purposes to secure revenue for the city coffers which are at a somewhat low ebb.

BUGS BAER'S COLUMN

THE ECONOMY WAVE.

THE profiteers' skulls are still full of six per cent. and other larceny, indicating that the economy wave is busting on a rock bound shore.

IN a nimble effort to make the profit sharks lower the price of something, four elephants bigfooted it down the street all bandaged up in cerise overalls. Nobody knows what it was all about, so all prices are exactly the same as before the big blizzard of paper dolls.

THE present situation is characteristic of America. Elephants in overalls and fleas in silk.

YOU tell 'em. You've got the correspondence school education.

AFTER the parade the quartet of peanut grinders was taken back to their coops, where they held a straw vote to see what they'd have for breakfast. They got it.

IF slapping elephants into gingham will flatten the cost of clam chowder with clams, why not try steam ringtailed armadillos around in calico? That should make poison ivies much cheaper and put ground glass within reach of the working man.

PTOMAINE poisoning is becoming almost a luxury. It's a good thing to have the elephants on our side but gosh, look at the upkeep. It would be cheaper to keep a stuffed canary and starve surrounded by your wife's relatives. All guys surrounded by the in-laws do that eventually, why not now?

OUT in Ohio the local chapter of the Gate of Hope Society hot-dogged it fifteen country miles as a protest agin the leather price of paper shoes. They made the welkin ring, but the profiteers laughed 'emselves into a froth. There ain't any welkin-button on the cash register. The hoofers wore their new second-hand shoes right down to blotting paper. Is there no one-half-of-one-per cent. balm in Gilead? The hinges are rusty on the gates of hope.

THE Gate of Hope cortege was a bloomer. They forgot to take along a one-eyed ant eater to chaperon the affair.

DOWN South in Alabama, where the buy-a-bale-of-overalls epidemic started, the folks raise the cotton that makes the overalls. High hats are what make the trapper hunt the beaver. This time the beaver is hunting the high hat. The more overalls, the more cotton, and by the time we are trying to celebrate the glorious Fourth on vanilla extract and oratory everybody in the boll weevil belt will be able to afford to wear satin napkins while eating radium consomme.

IT'S only a mis-step from the ridiculum to the sublime. Next week we will be shedding those calico cocoons like a seventeen-year-old locust sheds his one-bug top. In order not to look as if we earned an honest living, all the merry villagers will be trading in the 1920 model burlap overalls for 1921 silk birds.

INDICATING that the economy wave is all wet.

SULLIVAN VS. K. O. MILLER IN C. A. C. FEATURE

Farmer Sullivan of New York and K. O. Miller of the South End have been signed up to meet in the feature bout of twelve rounds at the Commercial A. C. next Friday night.

ALLAN RUSSELL BEATS YANKS

Forces Mighty Babe Ruth to Fan Twice and Is Very Stingy About Hits

New York, May 4.—It was the turn of Allan Russell, the former New York Americans spitballer, to stand the Yankees on their honorable ear. Allan has not been of much help to Ed Barrow since the season got under way, but he certainly showed the Yankees an amount of stuff.

Three singles, two of them of the infield variety, was the extent of the damage that the Yankees were able to do against this former member of their pitching stable. During his Yankee career Allen always was giving bases on balls to the enemy, but he displayed none of these wild tendencies against his old team. One Ping Bodie drew the only pass that Russell gave. Only thirty Yanks went to bat and in seven of the nine innings Russell snuffed them out in order.

Red Sox Pitcher Tames Babe Ruth

Russell made a nice job of taming Babe Ruth, who like Allan learned his baseball in Baltimore. Twice the Big Babe struck out, and in his third attempt he caught one on the seam and almost drove it to a cloud, but it only had height. It had no distance. It took the ball a long time to come down, but when it came down, Hooper was under it.

The Red Sox licked George Mogridge again. There was a time when the Hub team used to be George's meat. So far Huggins has started him only twice this season both times against the Red Sox, and he has lost both games.

George pitched pretty good ball, but he had a rocky first inning and he could not afford any. The Red Sox bunched a pass to McNally with singles by Menosky, McInnis and Foster. The combination yielded two runs, which was enough to win.

PAUL DEMERS PROVES TOO GOOD FOR YOUNG DUNDEE

New Bedford, May 4.—Paul Demers of this city gave Young Dundee of Syracuse a fine lacing in twelve rounds, forcing the battle in every round and punishing his opponent severely.

Larry McLean May Join Braves Soon

Larry MacLean, former catcher for the Cincinnati Reds and now New York Giants, is likely to become a Brave shortly, if there is any foundation of truth in rumors flying around local baseball circles. Larry has been out of the big show since 1916, when he was suspended by the Giants. But he was later unconditionally released and has since been playing independent ball.

Larry, who was a great hitter and a good backstop, as well as comedian, has been leading the simple life for three years and is some sixteen pounds lighter than he was when last a Giant.

PUBLIC GOLFERS TO ORGANIZE

Representatives of City Links Meet at Worcester to Arrange Title Play

By ROBERT E. HARLOW

Representatives of the municipal golf links of Boston, Worcester, Hartford and Stamford will meet in Worcester City Hall Thursday to organize a New England municipal links golf association and to arrange for public links individual and team championships.

The meeting was called by S. Wales Dixon, supervisor of recreation for the department of parks of Hartford. Dixon was instrumental in having New England represented in the national municipal links team championships of 1915 and 1916, and now hopes to get something worth while going in New England.

Boston, Worcester, Hartford and Stamford are the only New England cities which maintain public links and each will be represented at Thursday's meeting. Joe Burns will represent the Scarboro Club of Boston, Ernest Smith will represent the Green Hill Club of Worcester, and Dixon will represent Hartford. The Stamford delegate has not been named.

Boston Golfers Anxious for Organization

Boston municipal links golfers are anxious for such an organization as the one which will be formed at Worcester. While it will be another year at least before the effects of the war gardens can be erased from the Franklin Park course, the golfers are just as enthusiastic as if the course out in the park was all that it ought to be. One thing is certain, none of the municipal links championship competition will be held at Franklin Park this year.

Hartford is the most likely place for the meeting, as the Goodwin Park golf links were not disturbed for war gardens. Hartford city officials found more suitable soil for the amateurs to chase the potato bugs on than the Goodwin Park links. Hartford also has 18 holes, which is an item which the delegates will probably not overlook in awarding dates.

Curtis Sisters Add to Bay State Strength

Miss Margaret Curtis and Miss Harriot Curtis, who have returned to competitive golf this year, will add great strength to the Massachusetts delegation in the Griscom Cup matches and in the woman's championship at Cleveland, should they enter this event. Miss Margaret Curtis has a medal card of ninety at Commonwealth in defeating Mrs. E. W. Daley two and one in a match play tournament of the Woman's Golf Association.

The Metropolitan Golf Association has finally taken Jerry Travers' name from the top of the New York handicap list and substituted that of Oswald Kirkby, the metropolitan champion. Although Travers has not been leading the New York delegation in form for some years, it is an unpleasant duty to remove from the position of honor a golfer who in years past won the national amateur title more than once and the open title as well. Kirkby deserves his place at scratch. Travers is now at two strokes.

Handsome Prize for Metropolitan Title

The Metropolitan Golf Association has voted to purchase a $750 piece of silverware for the winner of the Metropolitan amateur championship, to be played at Apawamis beginning June 9. To take permanent possession a golfer must win the title three times, while playing from the same club.

Lesley Cortrell is assisting Bert Nicholl in the professional shop at the Belmont Spring Country Club. Few golfing families gave more in the war than the Cortrell family of England. Three of the boys, all golf professionals, were killed in action, two in the Palestine campaign and Willie in the Argonne. Willie was formerly professional at the Plymouth Country Club, this State. The boys who were killed in Asia Minor were professionals at English clubs. Lesley was an assistant at the Bradford Golf Club, Yorkshire, before he came to America in 1919. He was at Wollaston last year.

RUGGED DOUBLE BILL AT GRAND THURSDAY

The double header to be decided at the Grand Opera House on Thursday night has set the wrestling fans to figuring on a night of rugged action, which is always the case when John Kilonis is in any progarm. The Greek faces a Tartar in Jean Bruce in the main event. Tony Ajax also gets a tough bird in Joe Williams, making his first appearance here. Both matches go to a finish and it is possible that the winners will be paired for a later date.

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOXER DIES IN BOUT

Bridgeport, Ct., May 4.—While giving a boxing exhibition at the Acorn Athletic Club of this city, Louis Sulle, eighteen years old, dropped dead. His opponent, "Young Saxon," a seventeen-year-old boxer, was arrested and held in bonds of $1,000 on a charge of manslaughter. The exhibition had been in progress only 42 seconds.

FRANKIE SCHOELL OUT TO WIN

Feels Sure He Will Defeat Pete Hartley in Bout at Triple A Tonight

By JACK CONWAY.

Frankie Schoell, Buffalo lightweight, says he will keep right on winning when he meets Pete Hartley of New York in a twelve-round bout at the Armory A. A.'s show at the Grand Opera House tonight. Schoell says he has got the victory habit, and that he intends to keep putting the skids under his opponent.

There are plenty of fans hereabouts who don't believe Schoell will put over another win. They point to the fact that Hartley has just completed a Southern campaign where he engaged in nine bouts. He won all of them, seven of his opponents passing out of the picture before festivities ended.

Hartley is not a stranger to Boston fans. He proved he is a regular fighting man by the fine showings he made against Frankie (Young) Britt and Harry Carlson. The New Yorker was never introduced to Mister Armistice. He just keeps whaling away until the other fellow goes down in the waves of defeat.

Schoell has not any intention of being beaten. He has engaged in two winning bouts here. He stopped Young Brooks and then outpointed Cleveland Johnny Downes.

Charley Sheppard to Battle Young Gould

Charley Sheppard, New York lightweight, will meet Young Gould of Brockton in the semi-final of eight rounds. Harvey Mealey is directing the ring affairs of Sheppard. Mealey believes his protege will win easily.

"Gould is a rough fighter," said Mealey today. "His style of milling intimidates many of his opponents. This gives him the edge. If the Brockton boxer gets rough tonight he is liable to receive quite a bumping. You know Sheppard never was awarded any medals for being a parlor boxer. He is one of those rough fellows who keeps punching every minute he is in the ring."

There will also be a couple of sixes.

Mike O'Dowd Here for Tussle with Wilson

Mike O'Dowd, world's middleweight champion, is in Boston to complete his training for his twelve-round bout with Johnny Wilson of Charlestown which will be staged by the Fenway A. A. at Mechanics Building Thursday night. O'Dowd will workout at Al Delmont's gymnasium on Hanover street. He will also do road work through the Fenway.

It is unusual for a fighter of O'Dowd's ability to give so much attention to his training. The middleweight champion was frank in stating that he realizes that he must be at his best to win from Wilson.

"I couldn't afford to come to Boston at the last minute for my bout with Wilson," said O'Dowd today. "I must be rested and prepared to give my best if I am to win from the Charlestown man. He is a big, strong fellow with a punch and as game as they make them. I will be obliged to fight at top speed every minute I am in the ring if I am to finish in front.

"I realize Wilson has a chance to win my title. I feel confident I will beat the local favorite, but I am not underestimating his punching power. Any fighter will take the count if hit hard enough and on the right spot. Of course I don't intend to let Wilson get in any good punches if I can avoid such happenings. Perhaps if somebody other than myself were champion, he would not take a chance at meeting a tough fellow like Wilson. Personally, however, I would not care to be a title holder if I did not believe I could not conquer every boxer in my class."

Another Amateur Show for Quincy Fans

An open amateur boxing show will be held by the West Quincy Baseball Club at the Quincy Coliseum next Tuesday night. There will be contests at 115, 125 and 135 pounds. A special bout will also be arranged. Entries should be sent to Patrick J. Maley, No. 374 Bowdoin street, Dorchester.

PADDY FLYNN WINS FROM JOEY CONNOLLY

Paddy Flynn of Everett defeated Joey Connolly of Charlestown at the Union Square A. C., Somerville, in twelve rounds.

Eddie Mack of Somerville won in a round from Eddie Fitz of the South End. Ned O'Flynn, Somerville stopped Young Fay, Boston, in a round and Leo Gregory, the "Fighting Iceman" of Malden, won in five rounds from Young Brown of Boston. In an extra William Martin, Somerville, stopped Frankie Bryce, Cambridge, in two rounds.

Levinsky Shades Turner

Portland, Me., May 4.—Battling Levinsky had the shade over Clay Turner in a double six-round encounter at the Pine Tree A. C. Turner was the aggressor most of the way but Levinsky's cleverness more than offset the Indian's rushing tactics.

This Day in Our History—May 4, 1920

THIS is the anniversary of two important events in the Civil War, in 1864—the advance on Richmond and the beginning of Sherman's famous march to the sea. When both were completed, the surrender of Lee was inevitable and the preservation of the Union assured.

One of Astronomy's Basal Lines

IF, at 9 o'clock in the evening, you draw an imaginary line from the Pole star through the Great Dipper and the zenith and down to the middle of the southern horizon, it will mark the great equinoctial colure of the astronomers. On this line, about 50 degrees above the horizon and near the head of Virgo, is the autumnal equinoctial point where the sun crosses the equator.

THE YOUNG DIANA

Story of Tense Mystery in Which Heroine Holds Key to Youth

By Marie Corelli

CHAPTER XVII.

IT was quite [illegible] at Davos before [illegible] it and [illegible] and Diana on to the [illegible]. Here, in the warm sunshine of the early Southern Spring he began to study with keener and closer interest the progress of his "subject," whose manner towards him and general bearing became more and more perplexing as time went on.

She was perfectly [illegible] able and full of [illegible] and attention for Madame Dimitrius—and every form [illegible] his mysterious "potion" [illegible] without hesitation or question so that he had nothing to [illegible] of —but there was a new individuality about her which held her aloof in a way that he was at a loss to account for. Wherever she went she was admired, stared, talked and sought [illegible] introductions, and she received [illegible] attention of an [illegible] without seeking [illegible].

One evening at a hotel in Cannes she was somewhat perturbed by seeing a portly elderly man whom she recognized as [illegible] friend of her father's, and one who had been a frequent week-end visitor at Rose Lea. She hoped he would not hear her name, but she was too much the observed of all observers to escape notice, and it was with some trepidation that she saw him coming towards her with [illegible] suggestive of life-long whiskey-sodas—a "man-about-town" manner she knew and detested.

"Pardon me!" [illegible] said with an openly admiring glance "but I have just been wondering whether you are any relation of some friends of mine in England named May. Curiously enough, they had a daughter called Diana."

"[illegible]!" And Diana smiled—a [illegible] smile which was becoming habitual with her. "I'm afraid I cannot claim the honor of their acquaintance!"

She spoke in a purposely repellent manner, whereat the bold intruder was rendered awkward and abashed.

"I know I should not address you without an introduction," he said stammeringly. "I hope you will excuse me. But my old friend Polly ——"

"Your old friend—what?" drawled Diana carelessly, unfurling a fan and waving it idly to and fro.

"Polly—we call him Polly for fun," he explained. "His full name is James Polsfore May. And his daughter Diana was drowned last Summer—drowned while bathing."

"Dear me, how very sad!" and Diana concealed a slight yawn behind her fan. "Poor girl!"

"Oh, she wasn't a girl!" sniggered her informant. "She was quite an old maid—over forty by a good way. But it was rather an unfortunate affair."

"Why?" asked Diana. "I don't see it at all! Women over forty who have failed to get married shouldn't live! Don't you agree?"

He sniggered again.

"Well—perhaps I do—perhaps I do. But we mustn't be severe—we mustn't be severe. We shall get old ourselves some day."

"We shall indeed!" Diana responded [illegible]. "Even you must have passed your twentieth birthday!"

Looked Foolish

He got up a spasmodic laugh at this but looked very foolish all the same.

"Did you—in these psychic days—think I might be the drowned old maid reincarnated?" she continued, lazily, still playing with her fan.

This time his laugh was unforced and genuine.

"You! My dear young lady! The Miss May I knew might be your mother! No—it was only the curious coincidence of names that made me wonder if you were any relative."

"There are many people in the world of the same name," remarked Diana.

"Quite so! You will excuse me, I'm sure, and accept my apologies!"

She bent her head carelessly and he moved away.

A few minutes later Dimitrius approached her.

"Come out on the terrace," he said. "It's quite warm and there's a fine moon. Come and tell me all about it!"

She looked at him in surprise.

"All about it? What do you mean?"

"All about the little podgy man who was talking to you! You've met him before, haven't you? Yes? Come along!—and let's hear the little tale of woe!"

His manner was so gentle and playful that she hardly understood it—it was something quite new. She obeyed his smiling gesture and throwing a light scarf about her shoulders went out with him on the terrace which dominated the smooth sloping lawn in front of the hotel, where palms lifted their fringed heads to the almost violet sky and the scent of mimosa filled every channel of the moonlit air.

"I heard all he said to you," went on Dimitrius. "I was sitting behind you, hidden by a big orange tree in a tub—not purposely hidden, I assure you! And so you are drowned!"

He laughed—then, as he saw she was about to speak, held up his hand.

"Hush! I can guess it all! Not wanted at home except as a household drudge—unloved and alone in the world—and made an exit—not a real exit [illegible]—and came to me. Excellently managed! —for now, being drowned and dead, as the old Diana, you can live in your own way as the young one! And you are quite safe! Your own father wouldn't know you!"

Inward Change

She was silent, looking gravely out to sea and the scarcely visible line of the Esterel Mountains.

"You mustn't resent my quickness in guessing!" he continued. "I can always put two and two together and make four! Our podgy friend has been unconsciously a very good test of the change in you."

She turned her head and looked fixedly at him.

"Yes. Of the outward change. But of the inward, even you know nothing."

"Do I not? And will you not tell me?"

She smiled strangely.

"It will be difficult. But as your 'subject' I suppose I am bound to tell——"

He made a slight, deprecatory gesture.

"Not unless you wish."

"I have no wishes," she replied. "The matter is, like everything else, quite indifferent to me. You have guessed rightly as to the causes of my coming to you—my father and mother were much disappointed at my losing all my 'chances' as the world put it, and failing to establish myself in a respectable married position—I was a drag on their wheel, though they are both quite old people—so I relieved them of my presence in the only way I could think of to make them sure they were rid of me forever. Then—on the faith of your advertisement I came to you. You know all the rest—and you also know that the 'experiment' for which you wanted 'a woman of mature years' is—so far—successful. But——"

Good Advice for Young Ladies, Even if It Is Old, Says Nell Brinkley

When a Girl Marries

Interesting Serial by Ann Lisle

"IT doesn't feaze you—finding Jim here like this—with her?" he said jerkily, avoiding Evvy's name.

I gathered myself to meet Jim's every expectation as I replied:

"It's Evvy who seems to have been feazed. She's said—and made it clear, too—that she doesn't want to see any of us again—ever. She didn't try to save your pride, Neal. She didn't seem to have much of her own to save."

"We've all been dismissed—together," said Jim dryly. "Shall we clear out, Anne? Will you drive us back to town?"

Then, too boldly, I feared, he picked up the discarded ring and stood studying it.

"Neal, old chap, what Evvy Mason thinks of us is pretty clear from what she said to us when she got through with us. And she's through, all right. But I'll bet we never do much talking on that score. I'm darn glad Evvy has marched herself out of our lives. Shall we be starting along?"

He held out the ring as he spoke.

Neal Stammered

But Neal, his face matching his hair, stammered.

"Would you just give it to Babbs to keep for me?"

I took the ring and slipped it into the inner compartment of my bag. That made two diamond rings I had received from Neal in one afternoon. But I was pretty sure that one of those rings was only mine in trust.

"Say, Anne, do you want to drive us over to the old Harrison place before we go home?" Jim asked as we made ready to leave after giving, by tacit consent, a decent margin of time for Evvy to come back and establish whatever relations she wished with us.

I noticed a glint in Neal's eyes when Jim said that. And as we roamed over the tangled but lovely old grounds together a few minutes later Neal drew Jim aside and murmured a few sentences to him. They seemed to re-establish, from Neal's angle, the same cordial relation which Jim had shown every evidence of feeling from the moment Neal had cried out his anxiety for my happiness.

We spent so much time on the Harrison place that 7 o'clock caught us unawares and hungry and we had to stop at an inn for dinner. Masculine poise and calmness stood us in such good stead that we ate in good-natured commonplace fellowship, as if nothing unusual had happened. And we motored Neal home and bade him good-night on the same unstressed note.

"See you for dinner tomorrow," announced Jim at parting, and Neal agreed.

Jim's first words when we were once alone in our own apartment were pitched in a far different key however.

Plenty of Money

"Anne," he cried, seizing my shoulders in firm hands and holding me off at arm's length. "Have you stopped caring for me?"

"Have I stopped caring?" I began already to protest, and then the quizzical gleam that had come again to Jim's eyes arrested my attention and made me change my tune and tone. "Of course, Sir James, it would flatter your masculine vanity for me to swoop down on you with a query as to what you were doing alone with that woman. But I remain calm. Is it a disappointing calm, Sir James?"

"'Tis—and 'taint!" laughed Jim. "But, of course, if you haven't the least curiosity I won't bore you with my story."

"Oh, Jim!" burst from me in a tone of complete betrayal.

And then Jim told me part of it—as much as a man who isn't a cad could tell. I filled in the rest.

"I've been making money—fistfuls, Lilac Lady. And I thought the old Harrison place ought to come back to us. I've had Neal on the trail of the present owners and their price. Thought it would be easy for him to get his finger on the Sturges Construction Company. But it isn't listed with them, and he can't pussy-foot a bit of knowledge for me. Well, today I went out there by train to take a look. And as I was hoofing it from the station, where the one hack and half a taxi were working for other folks when I wanted them, I met Evvy."

"And went to Mason Towers with her in pursuit of the policy you've been following for weeks," I hazarded in a breathless rush. "You've been trying to make her realize that she couldn't go through with it and marry Neal—just to spite Phoebe and you and me and to be revenged on you for jilting her—by making your little sister suffer. After all my failures you've saved Neal from his own stubborn ideas of honor. And Phoebe needn't be miserable. And all because you found the one way to make Evvy let Neal go—by forcing her to see that she couldn't marry Neal—when she still cares for you!" I concluded daringly, triumphantly.

Then I added suddenly, swept into realization of what its recovery meant:

"The old Harrison place! Oh, [illegible] my Jimmie!"

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

EMMA

FEW feminine names have a simpler origin than Emma. It is one of the many names derived from Teutonic forefathers. Tradition assigns its origin to the lispings of a child, since Amme was nurse in Germany, and ame is translated housekeeper in Spain. Amme was quickly transposed to Emma, probably from a latent sense of euphony.

Copyright by Harris & Ewing

The Karling daughters of Teutonic fame were first to use the name. Later a daughter of Charlemagne was so called. A romantic story surrounds her to the effect that she is said to have carried her lover, Eginhard, the chronicler, on her back over the snow that his footprints might not betray his visits.

Emma was popular in France, where it was the name of the sister of Hugh Capet, who married Richard the Fearless of Normandy. Her grandmother was first the wife of Ethelred the Unready, then of Knut. It was in this way that Emma became much in vogue in Saxony. There were also Emmes among the daughters of the Norman Dru de Balodon, who came over with William the Conqueror.

Prior, in his beautiful ballad of the "Nut Brown Maid," which was supposed to be the history of the shepherd Lord Clifford, called his poem "Henry and Emma," which fact brought Emma romantic fame and spread the popularity of her name. Emmeline, curiously enough, bears no relationship to Emma, but comes rather from Amaline, the progenitor of Amy.

The bloodstone is Emma's talismanic gem. It has medicinal qualities, and was much used by the ancients to stop hemorrhages. It is said to preserve the faculties and the bodily health of its wearer, bring consideration and respect, and guard her from deception, especially of lovers. Tuesday is Emma's lucky day and 5 her lucky number.

Household Suggestions

To clean knife handles, dip half a lemon in salt, then rub vigorously on the knife handle, and immediately wash in hot water. This process will leave the handles as white as when new.

To clean a stiff doormat, place in a bath of soapy water, scrub well with a hard scrubbing brush, then rinse well in cold water and stand on its side to dry.

Tinware rubbed over with fresh lard and then made thoroughly hot in the oven before using will not rust as it does otherwise and become unsightly looking.

Cotton-wool dipped in a little methylated spirit will effectually clean unprotected photographs without in any way destroying their polished surface.

To keep copper articles bright, steep the outside of the copper in hot ale and put near the fire to dry. Utensils thus treated must not be wiped after being immersed.

To make a fish salad take the remnants of boiled fish or a tin of salmon. Remove the skin and bones, cut into small pieces, season with salt, pepper, whole allspice or capers, and enough vinegar to cover the fish. Let it stand covered for a few hours, serve with lettuce leaves, with or without dressing.

To clean rusty curtain pins, let them stand for a few minutes in a cupful of water in which a little ammonia has been added. Then take them out and rub well.

Carpets may be brightened by first sweeping thoroughly and then going over them with a clean cloth and clear salt water. Use a cupful of coarse salt to a large basin of water.

To renovate leather that has become dull and shabby looking, rub over with the white of an egg well-beaten.

To clean a vegetable knife that has been used for cutting onions, place it under the cold water tap for a few minutes. Hot water will not remove the smell so quickly.

Turpentine is useful for removing paint stains. Apply the turpentine with a piece of rag, and if the stain is obstinate use a little ammonia as well.

Silk lace that has become yellow may be bleached by exposing it in the sun while wet.

UNITED FRUIT HIGH HERE

Boston Market Mixed as to Price Movement; Curb Trading Dull and Narrow

Price irregularity characterized the Boston list when the market opened and the movement assumed no definite trend during the forenoon. It failed to mirror New York as accurately as usual. But it retained habitual quiet and was normal as regards lack of feature. United Fruit began with 3½ gain and later in morning sold at an advance of 5½. This was a reflection of the class strength of sugars on the Manhattan exchange. Packing issues had a better tone than for several days. Waldorf was a strong stock and was was also active. Amoskeag began unchanged and sagged a couple points. Fluctuations by most issues were narrow and without significance. But where there was pronounced movement it was generally upward.

Among issues to advance a point or more in early trading were Mohawk, Eastern Manufacturing, New River preferred and Elder. Smaller gains were made by American Telephone, Elder, Connor Co., Greenfield Tap, Swift & Co. and North Butte.

Edison was off a point and fractional declines were sustained by Calumet & Arizona, Copper Range, Isle Royale, Carson Hill and Pacific Mills.

By afternoon the market was strong. Responding to New York influence, it became broader and more active. In the last hour strongest issues included Swift & Co., Swift International, Atlas Tack, U. S. Smelting, New Haven and Ahmeek. United Drug common was weak, showing a four-point loss on a few sales. Amoskeag rallied.

CURB MARKET IS NARROW.

The Curb market began dull and remained quiet during the morning. It was narrow as regards price changes and trading in general. High-priced oils were more in evidence than for several days and ruled weak. The bulk of speculation was in low-priced oils and silvers. The price trend was downward for the list as a whole. Arizona Silver, Boston & Montana and Midway were comparatively active. They began lower. Black Hawk gained a cent at the opening.

At 11 o'clock Gilliland was off 1 at 35. White 1 at 25. Arizona Silver 3 cents at 77 cents. Midway 1 cent at 68 cents, and Hecla Divide 1 cent at 4 cents. Boston & Montana had rallied and was selling at 90 cents.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

PROFIT TAKING IN LAST HOUR

Oils, Steels and Motors Are Affected by Realization Selling

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks ruled strong in New York at the close, but final prices were below the highest level of the session. Profit-taking in the last hour reduced the gains of many issues and eliminated those of others. Oils, steels and equipments motors were affected. Steels were weakest just before the finish when U. S. Steel showed a loss for the first time during the day. The market was less active than usual. Mails remained strong but were quiet in the afternoon. Reports as to the financial situation in Japan which were given out at Washington today caused concern on Wall Street. The New York call money rate was reduced to 6 per cent.

RAILS BECOME ACTIVE.

In the second hour rails were the market feature. Reading, Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Chesapeake & Ohio advancing from two to three points while others, including New Haven, sold more than a point above Monday's closing quotations. The financial faubourg was full of rumors about rail rate increases. profit taking affected steel, oil and motor issues late in the morning, especially oils. But so-called Ryan steels were strong. Replogle sold at a record highest price. One statement about this stock reads: "There is a persistent short interest that refuses to cover. Allan A. Ryan has returned to New York from Southern Winter resort.

The market ruled strong at noon er level was reached early in the afterlevel was reached early in the afternoon. Call money renewed at 8 per cent. and later was offered at 7 per cent. As the money rate receded stock valuations went up. Foreign exchange rates were firm during the forenoon, demand sterling rising 1⅝c to $3.86½; franc cables were quoted at 6.13, checks 6.12; lire cables 4.65, checks 4.645; Belgian cables 6.535, checks 6.52; guilder cables 36½, checks 36⅜; marks 1.81.

SUGARS SHOW GROUP STRENGTH.

Prices were higher at the opening, with sugars showing group strength and advancing from one to six points in early trading. So-called Ryan steels made large gains. Lackawanna Steel was conspicuous among "independents," and Baldwin and American Locomotive were among the most active issues. The refusal of the Supreme Court to reopen the government's anti-monopoly suit against the United States Steel Corporation continued to have tonic effect. The rise this morning was due in the main to covering of shorts. The market is said to be heavily oversold. But for uncertainty as to money the bulls might have a good inning. As it is, there was some nervousness in bear lairs this morning. Outside buying continued to be light. It is costing more to carry stocks than the average outsider can afford to pay. Extension of the short interest is indicated by increased borrowing demand for stocks. The market remained strong during the first hour, gains extending throughout the list, but by midmorning oils were irregular.

URGES PUBLICITY TO PROTECT INVESTORS

Investment bankers and brokers have not made enough use of the mediums of publicity to protect the public from unscrupulous promoters who swindle the public out of millions annually, according to President Rudolph Guenther of the Rudolph Guenther, Russell Law, Inc., financial publicity experts. He says:

"Legitimate investment bankers do not enjoy half the business they should, and they ought to take the lead in educating the public regarding the many-sided advantages of thrift, because unless Americans can be induced to invest wisely we cannot hope to become the most influential nation of the world.

"Wages are higher in the United States than anywhere else, and Americans could and should be easily first in the matter of annual savings. We all want the United States to take first place among the nations, and each of us can help to our mutual advantage by encouraging habits of thrift and the provision of opportunities for profitably employing those savings so that America's foreign and domestic commerce are upbuilt."

Government and Business

Senator Edge believes that government should divorce itself from private business. To members of the Academy of Political Science he said: "There is too much government in business and not enough business in the government. Uncle Sam must be pried out of the shipping business, the real estate business, the wholesale and retail clothing and grocery and other trades he has invaded. His mailed fist must be taken from the throat of private enterprise and his other hand from the taxpayers' pockets. Conversely, we hope some modicum of business will be injected into management of the government's legitimate, public business through a budget system."

Leases Larger Quarters

Business growth made it necessary for the Fidelity Corporation to lease the whole of the second floor of the new National Union Bank Building at No. 209 Washington street, and it will move into its new quarters as soon as the structure is ready for occupancy. President Benedict J. Baker announces his corporation has accumulated a satisfactory surplus after paying three dividends. It has been in business but eight months. The Capital Service Company, its fiscal agent, has found a ready market for Fidelity Capital Corporation preferred stock.

Sears-Roebuck Sales

April sales by Sears-Roebuck & Co., the world's largest mail order house, totalled $21,824,141, an increase of $2,640,260, or 13.7 per cent. For the first four months of 1920 the gain was $35,494,155, or 49.64 per cent. The business of this company is an index of the prosperity of the wage-earners.

IT'S WHITE AND $1.20

Once upon a time a few Bostonians took part in a little expedition called the Boston Tea Party, which did things to unjust taxation which have never been forgotten. This enterprise has the support of a lot of Bostonians, who have formed a New Safety Paper Party for the purpose of throwing overboard the Vicious Circle of rising prices in a perfectly lawful manner. We are pointing out the way. You—the public—have the power. Will you use it?

NEW SAFETY PAPER is a good, safe proposition and IT'S WHITE. If you want to know what it's for, read last week's Saturday Evening Post about the millions of dollars that the United States is being defrauded of yearly. Then you will have a little understanding as to why the proved demand is today three times the estimated business of a year ago. Estimated profits upon one-third of the business, orders for which have been brought into our office unsolicited, 25% on the present selling price.

NEW SAFETY PAPER is developing upon the moral principle of the square deal and a fair division of all the profits among all the shareholders. There are no huge salaries to the favored few and a miserable pittance to the greatest number.

NEW SAFETY PAPER already has supporters enough to assure the success of the business. Additional funds are being raised to increase the equipment and therefore the earnings. If you have any surplus funds not earning over 5% we can show you how to invest them where they should earn 25% the first year and more thereafter.

If you would like to join the 800 and make money, as well as help throw overboard the Vicious Circle, write for Booklet and call at our offices and investigate.

WOULD TAX BIG NEWSPAPERS

St. Louis Publisher Says Congressional Action Cannot Relieve Paper Situation

Washington, May 4.—Operation of an excise tax on newspapers over a definite size would prove impracticable, F. St. John Richards, representative of the St. Louis Globe Democrat, told the Senate sub-committee investigating the paper situation. Richards said congressional action to relieve the present situation would be "practically useless." Curtailment of size by legislation also was characterized as being of doubtful worth by Richards.

Jason Rogers of the New York Globe said he favored the consideration of an excise tax both on large advertisements and "over sized" newspapers. Many publishers throw away large numbers of papers each year to increase circulation figures and advertising rates, E. J. McCone, Buffalo, N. Y., publisher, told the committee. He advocated a system of careful auditing by the Post-Office Department as a means for relief from the alleged practice.

FEMALE HELP WANTED

GIRLS

You who earn less than twenty dollars per week—now that the good old Summertime is coming, are you going to be contented to stay in the muffy city and swallow dust, or are you going to improve your health and environment by going out to a small country town, where the green grass and mountains are ever before your eyes—where the Company you are working for and the town folks will take a personal interest in you, and where we will look after your welfare just like mother did?

For the benefit of those who see the light, the following inducements are offered:

AN OPPORTUNITY to learn a trade which means steady work throughout the year, with good pay.

OUR FACTORY
is sanitary and modern in every respect. We endeavor to make our working force a large social family. With this in view, have installed a recreation center for the girls and a clubhouse for the men.

OUR HOTEL
and restaurant is equipped and run by us, which enables us to offer and serve only the best of food at less than cost.

FREE LIFE INSURANCE is given to every employee at the end of three months.

A Splendid Opportunity
is offered girls and young women to secure well paying and permanent positions with a concern working under an industrial democracy plan. Assuring the best working conditions and the possibility of participating in dividends.

$13.50 Per Week
During the period of training—for which six weeks are allowed—the rate of compensation is $13.50 per week, with advancement to piece work where the average earnings are from $18.00 to $26.00

We are located 180 miles from Boston, and only those willing to leave town need apply. Your train fare will be advanced and refunded after three months.

Call today from 10 A. M. to 1 P. M. and talk it over. If you cannot call, write. We are confident we can interest you.

Measures That Would Cure Most of the Troubles and Tendencies Which Distress and Alarm Us Today

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

May Day Revolution Danger Only in Palmer's Eye

Everybody is laughing at A. Mitchell Palmer's May Day "revolution."

The joke is certainly on A. Mitchell Palmer, but the matter is not wholly a joke.

The spectacle of a Cabinet officer going about surrounded with armed guards because he is afraid of his own hand-made bogey is a sorry one, even though it appeals to the humor of Americans.

Of course the terrible "revolution" did not come off. Nobody with a grain of sense supposed it would.

Yet, in spite of universal laughter, the people are seriously disgusted with these official Red scares.

They cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars spent in assembling soldiers and policemen and in paying wages and expenses to Mr. Palmer's agents.

They help to frighten capital and demoralize business, and to make timid men and women nervous and jumpy.

As a matter of fact, there is no more danger that the few thousand "Reds" scattered over our vast territory will attempt an armed revolution than there is that the Woolworth and Singer buildings will waltz down Broadway together.

The whole thing is a mixture of personal cowardice and cheap department politics.

What Mr. Palmer is trying to do is to distract public attention from his miserable failure to reduce prices and jail profiteers.

What Mr. Palmer's agents are trying to do is to pose as wonderful sleuths and provide some excuse for their salaries.

And if there are no Red activities, they see to it that fictitious ones are created.

Judge George W. Anderson, of Massachusetts, was United States District Attorney during the war, before being selected for the Federal bench. He ought to know something about the methods of the Department of Justice and its agents, and the other day he declared from the bench that in ninety-nine out of each hundred "spy" cases brought to him by department agents, there was no foundation at all for the accusation; and also declared that the agents of the Department of Justice themselves "owned and operated" sections of the Communist party.

In other words, Judge Anderson charges that our Government is using "agents provocateur"—that most infamous of all the infamous devices of the Czar's secret police.

THE CONGRESS SHOULD INVESTIGATE THE SECRET SERVICE.

There is more than a suspicion that it is being used for highly improper purposes and that its methods are no longer such as can be tolerated in America.

And for mere reasons of public welfare there should be no more of these silly "Red Revolution" bogeys.

Opera bouffe is all right on the stage. But it has no place in the Department of Justice.

Some Astounding Figures of the Auto Tire Industry

Few more astounding statements of commercial fact have been made than the prediction by the head of one of the great automobile tire manufacturing companies that the tire business of the United States for 1920 would reach a total of $1,200,000,000, with an even greater number in prospect for 1921.

The figures for 1914, before the war, were $300,000,000. In six years they have multiplied 400 per cent.

This year's tire business will amount to more than the total imports of this country, free and dutiable, fifteen years ago.

It amounts to more than all the gold in circulation in the United States and almost doubles the value of the output of petroleum, its associate in making the motor car a success.

Less than twenty-five years ago the law forbade the driving of an automobile on any public highway.

Today the portion of the auto which touches the highway, to say nothing of the cars which roll noiselessly along on the imprisoned air, is the basis of one of the world's greatest industries.

No Dough Bag, No Justice

Is That the New Jersey Motto?

Copyright, 1920, Star Company.

Running for President of the United States without "dough bag" or "barrel" has its difficulties, as Hiram Johnson is finding out. They cheated him in New Jersey, no doubt about that. He wants a recount of the votes. The Chief Justice of New Jersey says to him, "You can have a recount, but you must deposit $50,000 before the recount is done, or the recount will not go on.

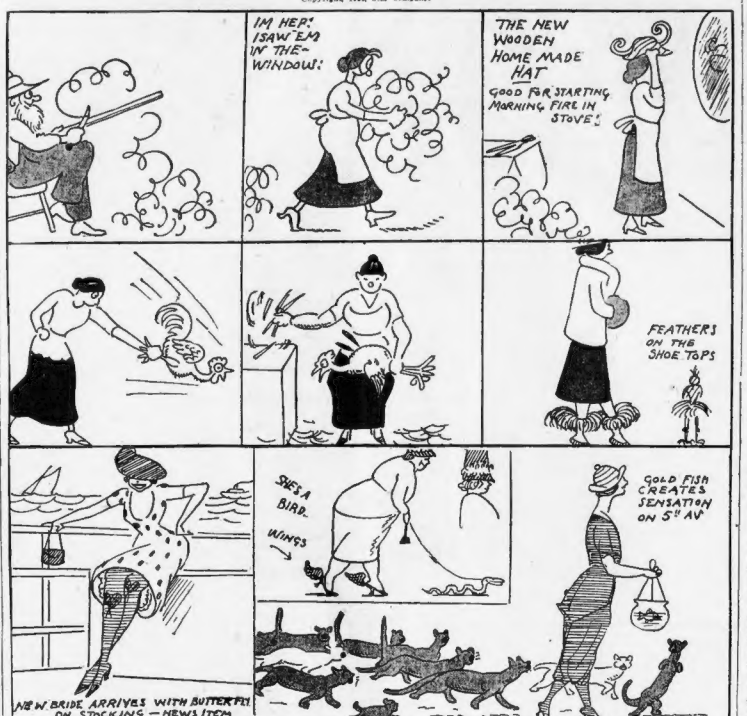

New Jersey voters, presumably interested in a fair count, are to be congratulated in having a Chief Justice who makes a swindled candidate deposit $50,000 only. Another might have asked for $1,000,000 or $10,000,000.

Perhaps, at the last moment, the Chief Justice will relent and not demand quite such a large deposit in advance from Johnson, who is only trying to get justice for the voters.

It should be remembered that some times in New Jersey Chief Justices take VERY reasonable views on financial obligations, as in the case where a child was killed and the judge figured the damages to the parents at One Dollar—on the theory that the company in killing the child had really saved money for the parents, making unnecessary the bringing up of the child.

More Truth Than Poetry

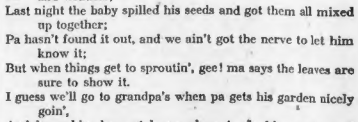

Pa Starts His Garden

By S. E. KISER

PA'S got a garden, where he digs and rakes and gets himself all muddy;
He seems to want to talk about his plans to nearly everybuddy;
I guess that we won't have to buy much stuff to eat this comin' season,
For pa will do his best to try to bring the profiteers to reason;
He says he'll raise the things we need to make preserves and jam and jelly,
But ma seems kind of sick and sad when pa comes in all daubed and smelly.

"IF people'd only learn to mind their own affairs," pa says, "we'd quickly
Get rid of troubles that we find spread almost everywhere so thickly,
And if, instead of ridin' round, they'd all get busy exercisin'
With spades and rakes and hoes and things, the benefits would be surprisin';
The price of livin' would come down so fast that you could see it tumblin';
Spread gardens over all the town, and folks'll soon give up their grumblin'."

HE'S got a lot of books he reads; they're all about the soil and weather;
Last night the baby spilled his seeds and got them all mixed up together;
Pa hasn't found it out, and we ain't got the nerve to let him know it;
But when things get to sproutin', gee! ma says the leaves are sure to show it.
I guess we'll go to grandpa's when pa gets his garden nicely goin',
And leave him here at home alone to do his cussin' and his hoein'.

By K. C. B.

HOW MANY thousands.
I DON'T know.
BUT I stood there.
IT SEEMED to me.
ALL AFTERNOON, in New York.
AND SAW them come.
AND SAW them go.
AND ALL were boys.
AND THEY all marched.
AS SOLDIERS marched.
AND THERE were bands.
AND FIFES and drums.
AND UNIFORMS.
AND SUNDAY suits.
AND SCHOOL day suits.
AND I recalled.
JUST SUCH a day.
THREE YEARS ago.
WHEN I had stood.
AND YOUNG men marched.
IN WORKING clothes.
AND BUSINESS clothes.
AND THESE young men.
WERE BOUND for war.
AND BATTLEFIELDS.
AND I was thrilled.
ON SUNDAY.
WITH WAR long past.
AND BATTLEFIELDS.
MADE HARVEST fields.
AND MARCHING boys.
FROM EIGHT years old.
OR THEREABOUT.
TO HARDLY more.
THAN IN their 'teens.
IT SEEMED to me.
AN IDLE thing.
TO MAKE my way.
WHERE I might see.
BUT STILL I did.
AND THERE they came!
IN COLUMNS wide.
AS FAR away.
AS I could see.
AND PASSING by.
I SAW their youth.
AND SHINING cheeks.
AND SHOULDERS squared.
AND EVEN step.
AND EYES ahead.
AND ALL the thrills.
I'D EVER felt.
WHEN MARCHING men.
PASSED IN review.
CAME TO me then.
AND THEN I knew.
THAT IN these boys.
LAY MORE of hope.
FOR FUTURE days.
THAN COULD be found.
IN ALL the miles.
OF MARCHING troops.
AND SOLDIER bands.
THAT EVER passed.
WHERE I then stood.
SINCE FIRST the day.
THAT SOLDIERS came.
TO THAT same street.
AND I stood there.
AND BREATHED a prayer.
THAT IN some way.
THESE MARCHING boys.
MIGHT COME to know.
WHEREIN IT was.
THEIR FATHERS failed.
TO LIVE in peace.

I THANK you.

THE RELIGION TAUGHT BY OVERALLS UNIONS

By Rev. Roland D. Sawyer

THE GOSPEL OF SIMPLICITY

Be plain in clothes, furniture and food; seek only to be clean, and then the coarser the better, the rest is folly and snare. If not an evil in itself, it is a nest to breed sin.—WILLIAM PENN.

THE group of men who started the "overalls union" idea were inspired. They caught the note of simplicity which had been the note of the religious teaching in all the great teachers like Jesus, Benedict, Francis, Fox, Penn, Tolstoy and such ancients as Lao-Tze, Buddha, Socrates, Pythagoras, Epictetus and Diogenes. And they are seeking practical application of the idea in a time when the world is running wild with luxury and frivolity, even though impoverished by war, it needs more than ever to practice simplicity and thrift.

Nitti, the Italian premier, who was a scholar and thinker before he entered politics, has issued in Italy a proclamation which calls for the simple life and more work. The intellectuals in Austria have formed unions in which the best people pledge themselves to simplicity of dress and living, even to going barefoot as soon as warmth permits.

Social thinkers are beginning to see that what they dread as Bolshevism is not a Russian political program, but it is a disease that afflicts the whole world. Big wages, big profits, high prices have turned the world luxury mad. We can not keep the boys in school when they see other young fellows racing around the streets in $4,000 automobiles; nor can we keep the boys hoeing corn when these fellows race by.

Crimes are now committed by the reckless youths who, failing to get their share of the luxuries in honest ways, take desperate chances. No matter what wages men get they feel it is not enough, they want more, they loat on the job. The old saying that "most men cannot stand prosperity" is sadly illustrated.

The world's mind is diseased, turned, everybody wants to loaf on the job. The emotionalism of the war days, the fads and frills of various forms of luxury have turned the minds of the major part of our citizens to think only of display and pleasure; we have forgotten the soberness and thrift which made the nation great.

The ago is quite similar to that epoch in England when in the midst of the pleasure-mad peoples there appeared the simply-garbed Quaker with his message of simplicity. The overalls idea is far from a joke, and those who in all seriousness will join the movement will be preaching a real religious message.

Letters to the Editor

Interest in Dean Case

Editor Boston American:

It may seem a little strange, but it is a confirmation of the widespread interest in the Dean case, that while on a short trip to Atlantic City I should find myself seated at the same table with a couple from Rochester, N. Y., who were well acquainted with Dr. H. W. Dean, having had him as their family physician up to the time of his death in 1880. They had known his daughter Mary, and were deeply concerned at the murder of her husband, Dr. W. K. Dean, of East Jaffrey, N. H., in August, 1918. They confirmed the repute of the elder physician.

WILLIAM D. GODDARD.

Indian Wars Veterans

Editor Boston American:

The Veterans of Indian Wars have never made any claim for the readjustment of their taxes, and they are compelled to pay a poll tax of $2 and an extra tax of $3 for the next few years. Now we would like to ask you through your valuable paper to do something to help us get the same conditions as the veterans of the Civil War and the World War Veterans are receiving.

DAVID F. KENT,
Ex-Regular Indian Fighter.

We All Fear Something
7 Alcoholically Pure
We Admit Perfection
Cursing at the Last

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1920.)

Andre Salsedo, an anarchist, said to have confessed to complicity in the bomb outrages of a year ago, jumped from a fourteenth story window yesterday. Federal officers in New York said he killed himself because he feared what other anarchists might do when they learned he had confessed.

Everybody seems to be afraid of something. All that this man feared, presumably, was murder, and to escape that fear he murdered himself.

How neatly we were constructed and how carefully wound up by the power that put us here on earth. Self-preservation is our strongest instinct and that one instinct is responsible for the safety of millions.

Our minds control us, as this man shows, killing himself to escape fear, and our minds in turn are controlled by minds outside of us. Thus we go along in nearly the same little groove, through the string of centuries, and really very little happens considering that there are two thousand millions of us on this earth nearly all dissatisfied about something.

The head of the Anti-Saloon League announces seven perfectly safe presidential candidates, alcoholically speaking. Their names are Hughes, McAdoo, Wood, Lowden, Poindexter, Bryan and Hoover.

This is important, in case you think that what the country needs to take it through after the war difficulties is a gentleman willing to take his oath that he will never taste a drop.

There is, however, a definite limit to the number that would be satisfied with a presidential platform reading: "If I ever did drink, I am sorry for it, and I take my solemn oath that if you elect me President I will never drink again and I won't let you drink either."

A girl nine years old had diphtheria. Her father and mother, Christian Scientists, called no doctor, treated the child in accordance with their beliefs. The daughter is dead, the father and mother are on trial for having allowed the child to die. It is a very interesting trial, each juryman being asked about his belief in prayer, and whether he is related to any doctor.

The charge against the Christian Science parents reads that "by force and arms did kill and slay," which is putting it rather vigorously. The interesting fact is that because of the progress of Christian Science, there will be almost as many interested in the question, "Why did not Christian Science save the child's life?" as in the question, "Why did not the father and mother call in a regular doctor?"

Two hundred and fifty Greeks applying for citizenship are told by a State Senator, addressing the men with solemn warning, right forefinger pointing toward the sky, to "avoid the wild un-American doctrines spread by alien agitators."

A Greek who has read his own history, including the history of philosophical Greek doctrines, wild and tame, since the days of Pythagoras and before, ought to be well protected mentally against wildness.

There is one good thing about us Americans that nobody can deny. We are ready at any moment to give advice to any other nation on any subject, and admit without hesitation our own superiority.

Threatening your enemy at the last moment seems to be great comfort.

Socrates did it in a dignified way, as he turned aside, condemned to death, and told the judges that he thought in the long run he might have the better part of the day's work. He was right about it, being honored and quoted by every civilized creature today, while the judges, forgotten, are as dead as he is.

Mr. Edward Watson, Chicago, grieved because Miss Malone, a waitress, wouldn't notice him. He killed himself with gas, first assuring the young lady that he would curse her the rest of her days and also haunt her. Luckily, outside of ouija board atmospheres, you can't do either.

It is interesting to see how all through history men sling, have cursed others, quite convinced that it would have effect. It has been useful, perhaps, in making people think. When a man is a little superstitious and thoroughly cursed, it makes him thoughtful. "Every man," says Socrates, "in his life has need of a faithful friend and a bitter enemy."

The head of a great shipping concern, formerly a convict in the Federal penitentiary, and set free because his doctor said he only had a few days to live, is again indicted.

Ordinarily United States soldiers are told right and left that it is not "patriotic" to ask or accept a bonus for their services. They will learn with interest that this former convict, now again indicted, was able to borrow and use sixteen million dollars of the public money to further his enterprises and increase his profits.
